Waveland may protest Bay annexation

BY GEOFF BELCHER
News Editor

Waveland Mayor Tommy Longo said Friday that he understands the rationale behind the Bay St. Louis City Council's bid last week to annex the area between Hwy. 603, the Jourdan River and west to beyond I-10 – but said it may not happen without a fight.

The Bay council on Tuesday approved the ordinance, which would include the annexation of Garden Isles, Jourdan River Estates and a huge portion of Shoreline Park. Much of the area encompassed by the plan is some of the most quickly developing property in the county, and includes territory Waveland might have tried to annex in the future.

Bay Mayor Eddie Favre and council members alike acknowledged that the move – which is still subject to chancery court approval – would be controversial and even expensive if the city has to face a court challenge. "Some people will be tickled to death and some people will be very

Hancock High, Hancock Middle and East Hancock Elementary all played host Friday and Saturday for the Mid-American Youth Basketball tournament to help benefit the Mississippi Magic 16-under boys all-star team. The Magic will be travelling to an invitation-only national tournament at the end of July. The Mid-American Youth Basketball tournament continues in Hancock County today from 9 a.m. until.

SRWM resolving billing problems

Southern Regional audits should be finalized soon

The Board of the Southern Regional Wastewater Management District hopes to be able to start out the coming fiscal year with a clean slate, said board president Mayor Eddie Favre on Wednesday. For now, two years' worth of audits wait for final approval, and many questions regarding billing to the district's customers remain unanswered.

Hopefully, both the 2000/2001 and the 2001/2002 audits will be finalized by the end of the summer, Favre said. The 2000/2001 audit could be finalized as early as next month with the finalization of the 2001/2002 audit coming in early August, he said.

Best selling author stops by the Bay

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

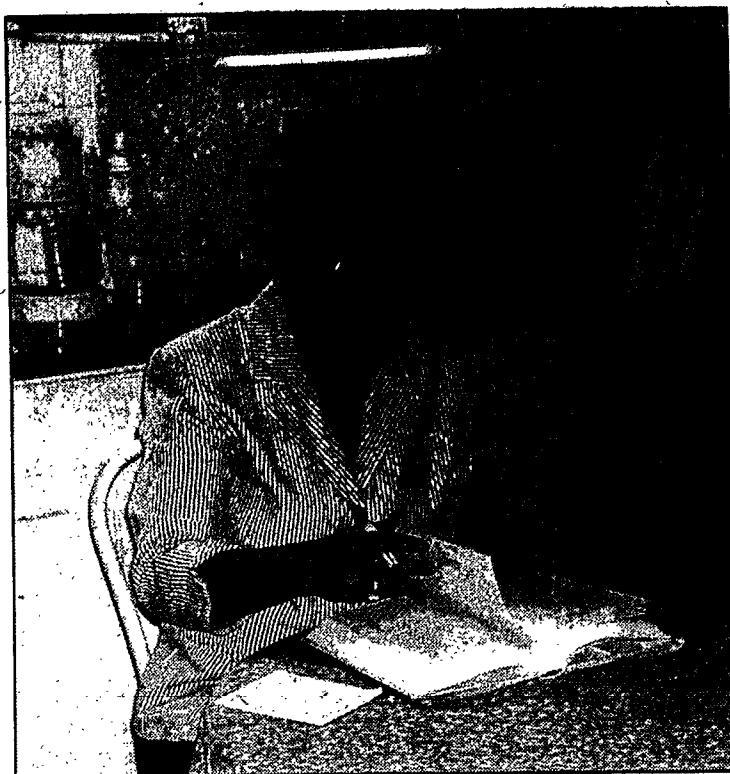

How does a best selling author whose book has been featured on Oprah's Book Club find inspiration? Through her characters.

They have a life of their own, she says, and lead her on a journey through the story of their lives.

Melinda Haynes was in town at Bookends Bookstore to promote her new best book "Willem's Field," her favorite so far, she says. The book, recently released, is very personal to her. The main character, Willem, like Haynes, suffers from panic disorder.

It is hard to imagine this petite, neat and tidy, attractive woman ever being out of control of herself, but Haynes has suffered from panic disorder, a suddenly gripping and disabling illness, since the seventh grade. She eventually had to withdraw from school almost totally and was lucky enough to have tutors to help with her complete her education, she said.

Later, the disorder drove her almost to being a prisoner in her own home, sending her young daughters out to do even the marketing. Staying home and painting until her the place she felt safe shrunk to a space so small that she suffered a breakdown in 1998,

Haynes began to emerge as a writer.

Writing, she says, and her conversion to Catholicism, became her saving grace in coming to terms with the disorder, in making sense of her life.

"It's all about control," she says, of a condition that makes one feel completely out of control of her surroundings. "I think the condition has helped me as a writer; I think it is why I am a writer. As a writer I can control the setting, the characters..."

"My conversion to Catholicism has given me so much relief," she says. "I think it is the structure of the Mass ... you know when people will stand, when they will sit, when they will kneel ... it was like having a fever all my life and suddenly I was cool."

And out of her personal tragedy has emerged a talented writer who weaves the lives of her characters in the small towns of the South together to present a rich portrayal of the Southern culture of her imagination.

Where those characters will take her, she says, she never knows until she gets there.

"It's a leap of faith," she says.

Haynes is also the author of "Chalktown" and "Mother of Pearl." She is currently working on her next novel.

Profiles help promote local artists online

At last week's artist profiles workshop Harrison Miner explained that for very little effort artists can create a personalized promotional tool that will be included in an artist directory at the Hancock County Library and on The Arts web site now being developed.

What exactly is an artist profile? Who should have one? And why? The answers are simple. Basically, an artist profile is a one page description of an artist consisting of two photographs and 200 to 300 words of text. Miner has designed a template so that all the pages have a similar format.

Each artist chooses two photographs that best represent their art and submits 200 to 300 words of text to describe their work. The photographs might show an artist at work; at an easel or pottery wheel, strumming a guitar or dancing, making glass or jewelry, taking a photograph or quilting. Or

"One of the goals of The Arts is to recognize and promote individual artists in Hancock County and the artists profiles project is a novel way to do that."

Gwen Impson,
president of The Arts

Once Miner receives the information from the artist he formats the info. From there it is printed out in color and a copy goes to the artists directory being compiled at the Hancock Library. The artists directory will list artists alphabetically as well as by type of art.

"We feel that this is wonderful community resource and it provides another way for the library to promote local artists," said Mary Perkins, public relations officer.

Miner also sends the artists profiles to The Arts web site. This not only provides a central resource for individual artists in Hancock County but also provides artists with a unique opportunity to have their work on the web if they do not have a web site. For those who do have a web site, linking to this will provide even greater exposure.

"One of the goals of The Arts is to recognize and promote individual artists in Hancock County and the artists profiles project is a novel way to do that," explained Gwen Impson, president of The Arts.

One artist who attended the workshop said that she would also use the artist profile as a printed promotion piece to accompany her paintings. She admitted that this is the sort of thing that she had always meant to do but never got around to doing.

Artists profile worksheets describing how the photographs and text can be mailed to Miner are available at the Bay St. Louis Library. For more information about the artist profiles contact Harrison Miner at 467-0074 or hminer@bell-south.net.

American Legion Post 77 of Waveland is "putting on a show" at Casino Magic as a fundraiser, starring Vince Vance & The Valiants on Saturday June 28 at 9 p.m. The proceeds from the fundraiser will be used in two distinct categories, according to Russell Voorhies, Post 77 commander.

One is to further the work with Veterans by the American Legion, and the other is to assist the City of Waveland in revitalizing the Waveland Visitors Center on Highway 90.

The event will take place at Casino Magic's Entertainment Complex with the doors opening at 7 p.m. and the show starting at 9 p.m., Voorhies said yesterday.

Charlie Henderson Ford of Waveland has signed on as a Platinum sponsor and is assisting as a ticket outlet. There are several other sponsors for the event too.

The show is titled, We Don't Run - "A tribute to the American Soldier," starring Vince Vance & the Valiants.

Ticket prices are as follows: general admission $10; Theater, $20; Cocktail, $30; and save a table for 10, $250.

Tickets can be purchased at Henderson Ford, 467-9005; American Legion Post 77, 467-9637; or Vince Vance, 467-5323.

Do yourself a favor: Hire an Alcan worker

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's June Coffee Call is set for Wednesday, June 25, 7:30 a.m. at the Waveland Holiday Inn.

Sponsors are Baycom Wireless, Nextel and Wal-Mart, Hancock County's Supercenter coming this September.

An added special at this event will be the Mississippi Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo Princesses.

On a regular basis, the Rodeo Princesses visit Hancock County for a day a couple of weeks before the big fishing rodeo - this year's rodeo dates are July 3, 4, 5 & 6.

The featured speaker for the Coffee Call will be Waveland's Mayor Tommy Longo.

As with all Coffee Calls, there is a $10 fee for chamber members and $15 for non-chamber members. The fee is to pay the cost of a full breakfast buffet.

Advanced registrations can be made at the chamber's office, 412 Highway 90, Bay St. Louis, telephone 467-9048. VISA or MasterCard are accepted.

The Chamber Coffee Calls have been very successful and well attended in the past.

Why not give it a try on Wednesday morning!

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce and Hancock County Port & Harbor are seeking business and industrial companies with job openings to exhibit at a Business & Industry Job Fair to be held on Wednesday, July 9.

The event will take place from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Hancock County Civic Center, Longfellow Road.

As many of you know, Alcan Cable recently made it known their plant in Bay St. Louis will be closing. This was an economic decision by Alcan because of the poor economy and the company has four other plants.

I have spoken to several of Alcan's employees and it appears the vast majority do not want to leave the area.

As one told me, "I have worked at Alcan for 20 years, I was born and raised here, buying my own home and all of my family lives here, so I do not want to leave."

The employees at Alcan are highly skilled, self-directed workers and their skills include, electronic/electricians, maintenance technicians, operators, warehouse managers, shipping and receiving manager, human resources managers, etc.

So, if your business, or industry is in need of employees, an Alcan employee could possibly fill those shoes.

For further information on the Business and Industry Job Fair, call the chamber at 228-467-9048. The exhibit fee is $100.

Alcan Plant Manager Rick Stokes, who reported at Bay St. Louis Rotary Club and, I understand, other organizations, said his primary job is to find positions for 116 folks.

Also, to report employment positions for posting at the Alcan Career Center, contact Jane Caruso at 228-466-8159.

In addition to the chamber and port and harbor, there are several other sponsors for the job fair.

Working toward BRAC's demise

Last week I helped lead an effort in the Senate to kill the next round of military base closures, scheduled for 2005. Forty-two senators voted in favor of an amendment that would have stopped the next round of closures. Fifty-three Senators voted against it. At face value it may seem like a victory for those who would like to close domestic military bases, but politically speaking it was far from it, which is good news for Mississippi's military communities.

The 2005 military base closure round was scheduled well before the catastrophic events of September 11, 2001, which changed our world forever, catapulting U.S. forces into battles against terrorists and terrorist states. With all that has transpired since 9/11, I think closing domestic military bases, especially domestic training bases, is becoming much less appealing despite the scheduled base closure round.

Therefore, given this changing attitude, coupled with the expanding missions of our state-side bases, Mississippi's base communities including Meridian, Columbus, Vicksburg, Grenada, the Gulf Coast and Hattiesburg are well positioned to fend off any future closure attempt.

The close vote in the Senate reflects that in the post-9/11 world, Congress is not predisposed to approve base closure of any kind, especially closing domestic bases using the Base Closure and Realignment Commission (BRAC) mechanism. BRAC is a closure method by which a supposedly "independent" commission decides which bases to close and which bases to spare. I have always opposed using this commission as a substitute for Congress, doing something that is Congress's traditional job. In the early 1980s a young Congressman named Dick Armey of Texas came up with the idea. Though Dick and I are very close on most issues, at the time I told him that BRAC would never work, and I would never support it.

Now almost 20 years after BRAC's inception, it is clear BRAC has not only failed to show significant cost savings in the base closure process, but BRAC has failed miserably in its main selling point, to be "fair" by taking "politics" out of the base closure equation.

BRAC was supposed to limit Congressional input, thus preventing regional interests from being considered in the closure decisions. Well, now folks both in and outside Washington just jockey to influence the makeup and actions of the commission - which unlike Congress is not elected and not responsible to the taxpayers who pay for America's defense. Subsequently, local base communities are forced to spend millions of taxpayer dollars on Washington consultants and lobbyists trying to make their case to the BRAC. So, without cost savings and accountability to taxpayers through elected officials, BRAC is useless. Congress might as well go back to deciding the base closure issue itself, based on recommendations from the Pentagon and the will of the American people who elect Congress to represent their interests.

Now, as if BRAC's failure and our ongoing War on Terror weren't enough to discourage domestic base closure, America today finds itself in a quandary regarding our military posture in Europe. Fourteen years after the fall of the Berlin Wall and the Cold War's end, we still have massive military resources based in Europe, particularly in Germany, waiting for an attack from the Soviet

Bay's annexation plan is a 'cruel joke'

The city of Bay Saint Louis wants to annex the business corridor of Hwy 603 and Shoreline Park.

What a nasty, cruel joke! For years businesses have been fleeing Bay Saint Louis because of the city's perceived anti-business attitude.

Their multi-year decline of sales tax collections graphically illustrates their anti-business attitude and its resultant exodus of businesses. Meanwhile, neighboring Waveland has enjoyed constantly increasing sales tax revenue from its business friendly attitude. Now, Bay Saint Louis wants to punish businesses that have fled and relocated on Hwy 603 by chasing them down and annexing them. How can a city in which many of the leading citizens have openly stated that they do not want "any growth" now have the gall to try to impose a zero growth, "historical area" mentality, on Shoreline Park and the Hwy 603 business corridor?

How does the "quaint little town" mentality fit in with the vibrant growth of the Hwy 603 corridor?

Bay St. Louis citizens have vehemently opposed family oriented businesses such as Bed and Breakfasts. Bay St. Louis confiscated Casino Magic from Hancock County, yet groups from Bay Saint Louis have vociferously opposed Gaming in other parts of Hancock County and have successfully delayed growth and jobs for Hancock County for years.

Letters to the Editor

Our letters policy

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expressions of appreciation and political endorsements are inappropriate.

Bay Saint Louis is now proposing making the city a "historical area". This means the city, and a small group of its citizens, will essentially confiscate homes and dictate how the owners can use their homes, or even if they can use them. Businesses are already severely restricted in their advertisement and signs.

Homeowners are forbidden to have chain link fences. Occupied Orange Grove citizens have nirvana compared to the horror Bay Saint Louis is trying to impose on the businesses and citizens of Hancock County.

Union, a country which ceased to exist way back in 1991. It is becoming very clear to the American people that a 60-year era of Americans' subsidizing Europe's defense may be coming to an end. If base closure is to move forward with or without BRAC, overseas, Cold-War era bases should be the first on the chopping block.

I will continue my efforts to either stop BRAC or limit its scope.

Mississippi has come a long way with the military, and we have given our all to support it. Neither the administration, the Pentagon, the BRAC nor anyone else should expect Mississippi to let the prospect of domestic base closure go unquestioned at a time of war and excess military spending in Europe. BRAC's proponents ought to wake up and discard the BRAC. If they don't, I believe a majority in Congress eventually will do it for them.

Military Mention

Sharon Singleton, 2290th U.S. Army Hospital, U.S. Army Reserve, was promoted to the rank of colonel on March 15, 2003, at Walter Reed Army Medical Center in Washington D.C.

She was pinned by her daughter, Torrie Jakes, and Chief Nurse Col. Mary Hand.

A 1968 graduate of St. Rose de Lima High School in Bay St. Louis, Col. Singleton is a 17-year Army Nurse Corps Officer and a veteran of the Persian Gulf War.

She earned her degree from Dillard University in New Orleans in 1972 and earned her master's degree from Louisiana State University Medical Center in 1980.

Currently chief of the Medical Nursing Section, Singleton has been selected to succeed Col. Hand as chief nurse of the hospital.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Singleton Sr. of Bay St. Louis, Col. Singleton considers her military service in the U.S. Army to be among her proudest accomplishments.

George Goetz of Bay St. Louis has enlisted in the Mississippi Army National Guard.

Goetz, a recent graduate of the Youth Challenge Program at Camp Shelby, joined Detachment 1, Company B, 1st Battalion, 155th Infantry in Bay St. Louis, according to his recruiter, Sergeant First Class Kevin Mardis. He will serve as an infantryman and will receive a $3000 enlistment bonus and a $3000 critical skill bonus.

As a member of the Guard, Goetz is eligible to receive the Montgomery GI Bill, which pays up to $276 a month while he attends school as a full time student. He can also receive assistance from the State Education Assistance Program, which pays up to $800 a semester to a four-year college, or $400 a semester to a two-year college.

Goetz will attend basic training and advanced individual training at Fort Benning, Georgia.

He is the son of George Goetz, and Lillian and Pat Trahan of Bay St. Louis.

Navy Ensign Leslie A. Esher, daughter of Dr. Robert J. Esher of Waveland, Miss., recently graduated from the United States Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md., and was commissioned to her current rank in the United States Navy.

Esher successfully completed four years of intensive academic, physical and professional training, resulting in a bachelor of science degree with a major in Oceanography. As a graduate of the Naval Academy, Esher completed a four-year, total-immersion program where a strong, balanced academic program focused on the educational needs of the Navy and Marine Corps, is superimposed on a strict, professional military training environment emphasizing the development of leadership skills.

Considered one of the top institutions in the country, the U.S. Naval Academy was founded in 1845. The Naval Academy has graduated more than 60,000 men and women. Its graduates have included 4,000 admirals and generals, one president, 200 members of Congress, three governors, 73 Medal of Honor winners, one Nobel Prize winner and 40 astronauts.

The Naval Academy currently has more than 4,000 students who comprise the Brigade of Midshipmen, and who come from every state in the union.

Esher is a 1999 graduate of Our Lady Academy of Bay St. Louis, Miss.

Navy Petty Officer 1st Class Milton F. Frisby, a 1982 graduate of Pass Christian High School, Pass Christian, Miss., recently completed a deployment to the Arabian Gulf while assigned to the guided missile destroyer USS Milius, homeported in San Diego, Calif.

Frisby was one of more than 8,000 Pacific Fleet Sailors aboard the ships of the USS Constellation Carrier Battle Group who participated in Operation Iraqi Freedom. His ship was one of the first of 30 U.S. Navy and coalition ships to launch Tomahawk Land Attack Missiles during military operations to disarm Iraq.

USS Milius is one of the most powerful warships ever put to sea. The computer-based AEGIS weapons system is the heart of the ship's warfighting capability. It centers around a powerful radar that enables the crew to detect, track and fire on more than 100 targets at a time.

Navy Seaman Apprentice John F. Singleton Jr., son of Carlis V. Anderson of Pass Christian, Miss. and John F. Singleton Sr. of Pass Christian, Miss., recently reported for duty with Fighter Attack Squadron 122, Naval Air Station, Lemoore, Calif.

Singleton is a 1995 graduate of Pass Christian High School of Pass Christian, Miss.

Joseph A. Mayoral has graduated from the U.S. Army Warrant officer Candidate School (WOCS) at Fort Rucker, Daleville, Ala., and has been appointed to the rank of warrant officer one.

The student completed an intense six-week course conducted in a very rigorous, high-stressed environment. The candidate received training and experience in leadership skills, Army customs, doctrine, tradition, and tactics, drill and ceremonies, professional ethics, physical training, time-stress-people management skills, which included decision-making, delegation, communication skills, and a variety of other military academic subjects.

Warrant officers continue to further their training through technical and tactical certification. As the officers gain progressive levels of expertise and leadership, they operate, maintain, administer and manage equipment, support activities or technical systems throughout their Army career.

Mayoral, a rotary wing pilot (aircraft nonspecific), is the grandson of Theresa Coleman of Kiln, Miss.

Air Force Airman 1st Class Nina L. Dedeaux has graduated from the pharmacy apprentice course at Sheppard Air Force Base, Wichita Falls, Texas.

The course is designed to train students in the basic and essential knowledge and skills necessary to compound and dispense medical agents, prescribed drugs, chemical and biological products. Emphasis is placed on drug therapy, pharmaceutical math calculations, computer information systems, outpatient dispensing, inpatient dispensing, intravenous admixture preparation, anatomy and physiology, and drug terminology.

Dedeaux is the daughter of Ruth M. and Kenneth J. Dedeaux of Cuevas-Delisle Road, Pass Christian, Miss.

The airman is a 1998 graduate of Pass Christian High School.

Illustrator and frog to visit reading program

Hancock County Library System's Summer Reading Program concludes for local libraries June 24-26 with special events

Children's book illustrator Chuck Gale and Finley the Frog of da Beach House will be the stars of the last week of the Hancock County Library System's 2003 Summer Reading Program.

The Pearlinton Public Library will be the site of mixed and matched animal parts (only on paper that is!), as Chuck Gale presents his program, Animal Parts.

Set for Tuesday, June 24 at 10:30 a.m., Gale will take the classic concept of mixing animals parts to create images. This helps children want to read and uses their imagination.

Children will learn a few secrets about illustration and the creative process. The oddest, most bizarre looking animals will emerge from the blank page of the drawing pad.

Gale, originally from Greenwood, Mississippi, has illustrated more than 30 books for educational publishers around the country. He has created covers for R. L. Stine's Fear Street series, and has contributed Hidden Pictures drawings to Highlights for Children magazine. Gale will also be on hand at Bookends Bookstore in the afternoon to sign his books.

Finley the Frog, mascot of da Beach House, and Louie St. Louis, the library's mascot, will perform together to share "A Peace of the Dream" with the participating children at the Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library on Wednesday, June 25, at 10:30 a.m., and at the Kiln Public Library on Thursday, June 26, at 10:30 a.m.

A Peace of the Dream is an inspirational program designed for children that uses puppetry as the medium to teach children the opportunities found through the exploration of their dreams and the peace found within their discovery.

Colleen Read, of da Beach House, will conduct the program, which is part of the Saving the Planet 'one person' One Event at a Time program, which promoting inspiring children of all ages to live fully, love unconditionally and honor completely the unique individuality of oneself through the sharing of positive educational programming.

Awards and certificates will be presented the week of June 24. A library card is required to check out all books, which may be checked out at any of the library system's branches.

To register, children should go to the library branch nearest them, and then visit a branch at least four times during the program, and check out at least six books between May 26 and June 21. To validate each visit, each reading record must be stamped. Merit stamps will be awarded for every five books reach beyond the basic goal of six books.

For more information about individual branch programs, contact Adrienne Bradley, Bay St. Louis-Hancock County Library, 467-5282; Sandra Ladner, Kiln Public Library, 255-1724; or Deborah Hill, Pearlinton Public Library, 533-0755.

upset," Favre said Tuesday. "God be with us," Ward 1 Councilman Doug Seal said. "I was surprised (by the annexation plans)," Longo said Friday.

"I guess I was like everybody else -- I learned about it through the newspaper. ... There was always kind of an unwritten agreement that there was a line drawn where Waveland would grow and where Bay St. Louis would grow. ... We have the buffer zone to our west, so they basically encircle us with that action. "My second thought after

I took a breath was 'They have to be doing this to test the market, or whatever. It can't be real.'

"If Waveland went to court on this, with the kind of financial situation we're in, there's no way (Bay St. Louis) can win. ..."

Longo said that growth is inevitable for both cities, and its understandable that the Bay council would want to annex more territory.

"We're not far from being in the same predicament," he said. "There've been five major subdivisions in the city (in the past couple of years) and most of our commercial property is used up.

"There's been something like 150 annexations in the state in the last 10 years or less," he said, and annexation can really be a good thing for people being brought into incorporated areas. It can save them thousands of dollars in insurance premiums and provide services they otherwise might not have received.

But the Bay annexation plan, he said, is massive. "It thought it was very optimistic and a little presumptuous on their part that Waveland would sit by and allow them to encircle us."

Longo said the city of Waveland has no official policy on the matter yet, since the Board of Aldermen doesn't meet until later this week, but said that unofficial discussions with individual board members lead him to believe the board isn't going to take the move lying down.

"We'll have to do something officially, I guess, if Eddie and them force our hands on it."

Billing -- Southern Regional

year will be resolved in July when each entity will pay outstanding balances in full, along with the current month's charge based on new, and what the board says, are accurate percentages from the new flow measuring devices installed in the last upgrade.

The new percentages for use by each entity are Bay St. Louis 45 percent, Waveland 37 percent and Hancock County Water and Sewer District 18 percent, Favre said.

Old percentages measured by the million dollar device showed use percentages to be 42.5 percent for Bay St. Louis, 26 percent for Waveland and 31.5 percent for Hancock Water and Sewer. Favre said that figures changed when the unit was recalibrated.

Hancock Water and Sewer board members had long said that they were being charged for much more than they were actually using. When previous billings are corrected, the district will be owed about $150,000 in refunds for over billing, a district employee said. The amount represents about five or six months of monthly billings at new calculations.

July's bill for the district's approximately 3,800 customers will be $25,736, for wastewater treatment at Southern Regional. Bay St. Louis, with 3,885 customers, will pay $64,230 and Waveland with 2,887 will pay $52,902 for treatment in July based on the new flow figures.

Average figures for flows from Bay St. Louis run around 1.7 million gallons per day (MGD), from Waveland, 1 to 1.2 MGD and from the county district 500,000 to 700,000 MGD said plant operator Doyle Ladner, but vary with rainfall.

Keep in mind that businesses and hotels that serve many people are considered one customer, Ladner said. Factors in use also include the tightness of the system.

"Our system is newer and tighter and our flows show that," said Hancock Water and Sewer director Eddie Renz. Renz did say that flows were also lowered because the district has some customers who are "weekenders," but the flows don't go up significantly during the summer months, he said.

Champion Supports 'Blast in the Bay' VI

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Champion Dodge, Chrysler, Jeep of Bay St. Louis and Gulfport will once again partner with the Bay St. Louis Fire Department to present Blast in the Bay, the annual classic and street rod car show to benefit the Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund. The sixth annual show will be held Saturday, July 13, on the festival grounds of the historic Bay Saint Louis Depot.

The show draws motorists and car enthusiasts from six states and all entry fees and other funds raised go directly to support children and families in need throughout the Hancock County community. The local firemen have been managing the fund for more than a quarter of a century.

Registration fee for the event is $15 per vehicle. Top Ten awards, including Champion's, Best of Show, Mayes, Chiefs, People's Favorite, Firefighters, and Friends of the Depot choices, Furthest Driven, Oldest Vehicle and for the first year the John Childress Memorial Award for continued show support are one of a kind awards designed by Bay St. Louis artist Vicki Lever-Niolet. Forty additional sponsor plaques and prizes will be awarded throughout the day.

"Champion is a wonderful partner for this charitable project and they are supported by our small business community in helping us help the less fortunate. We are pleased and proud that they are giving their support for a second year," said Deputy Chief Gary Maurice, show organizer.

The fire department began the Doll and Toy Fund repairing old toys and bikes donated to the department for distribution, but liability risks increased and the Fund had to accept and purchase new factory packaged toys. To meet these newer needs the department requested private donations and many donors have participated every year and are the backbone of the fund.

Business and corporate donors support this local charity where all funds

Don't forget the Benefit Blast for Dalton Corlett

The Southern Who Street Rod Assoc. Inc. and Street Dreams Rods & Parts Inc. will sponsor a Benefit Blast on July 5 at Street Dreams, 17251 Hwy. 53 just five miles north of I-10 on Hwy. 49, then 1.5 miles on Hwy. 53, Gulfport. All proceeds will benefit 7-year-old cancer patient Dalton Corlett. Register on-site, $10 per car; sale table and vendors fee, $25. Donations can be sent to:

donated go directly to taking care of children and seniors, with no administrative costs. Maurice has been involved with the fund since its inception in the 1970's.

The Firemen's Doll and Toy Fund fills a major need in the larger Hancock County community, especially during years of high unemployment and economic hardship. We have helped an average of 800 children a year over the last six years.

"As the numbers of children grew so did the need for additional revenue. Local car owners stepped up to the plate, especially the members of the Southern Who, helping us raise the additional funds needed to meet all the needs each year."

"This will be our first year to organize and produce the show on our own, but we had some really good teachers," continued Maurice.

To pre-register for the show contact Maurice, or Tammy Garber, during regular business hours. 228-467-4736.

Areas close to shrimping due to excessive rainfall

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources (DMR) has announced the closing of all waters north of the Intracoastal Waterway to shrimping, effective Friday, June 20, at 6 a.m. due to excessive rainfall.

Biological sampling has indicated that large numbers of juvenile brown shrimp have moved into these areas.

The DMR will continue sampling and will reopen these areas when the legal minimum size of 68 shrimp per pound has been met.

The Mississippi Department of Marine Resources is dedicated to enhancing, protecting and conserving marine interests of the State. Visit the DMR online at www.dmr.state.ms.us

Coast Guard urges storm preparedness

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The Coast Guard strongly recommends that all mariners take proper safety precautions throughout the hurricane season.

The hurricane season in the Atlantic Basin, which includes the North Atlantic Ocean, Caribbean Sea and Gulf of Mexico, runs from June 1 to Nov. 30, according to the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration.

Lt. Samuel Johnson, a search and rescue controller for the Eighth Coast Guard District here, wants to discourage mariners who think they can "ride out" a strong storm or hurricane. He said that boaters, commercial or recreational, should heed storm warnings and bring their vessel to safe moorings.

Johnson, who coordinates search and rescue operations throughout the Gulf coast, also recommends boaters contact bridge tenders for any deviations to posted schedules due to approaching storms.

In addition to the above points, the following are some tips to keep mariners safe this hurricane season:

- Know your local and national weather sources and monitor them continuously.
- Remove small boats from the water and ensure all loose items are properly secured. Ensure your boat is tied securely to its trailer.
- At the first sign of heavy weather seek shelter. Ensure all aboard the boat have a properly fitted US Coast Guard approved life jacket.

- Contact the Coast Guard immediately if you need help. Coast Guard frequencies are channel 16 VHF/FM or 2182 MHZ. Don't rely on cell phones in place of a radio. Use cell phones only as a backup system.

- Watch out for and report oil, gasoline or chemical spills to the Coast Guard and local emergency agencies.

- File a float plan before getting underway. A float plan is a simple way of letting a friend or family member know your destination(s) and important information about your boat.

- If you change your destination, contact your float plan holder and let him know.

- If you have an Emergency Position

Indicating Radio Beacon (EPIRB), ensure your vessel information is updated and accurate.

- After the storm has passed, contact the Coast Guard if you notice your boat is missing. This will help with post storm recovery missions.

You can replace a boat, you can't replace a life.

In case of emergency please contact your local Coast Guard unit or the district command center at 504-589-6225. To report oil spills or hazardous substance release, contact the National Response Center at 1-800-424-8802. For more information about storm preparedness, you can visit www.uscg.mil/news/storm-center/, or call Coast Guard Public Affairs at 504-589-6287.

BUSINESS NEWS

Carriere elected president of state tourism organization

The Mississippi Tourism Association (MTA) elected new officers for the coming business year during their annual meeting held recently at the Governor's Conference on Tourism in Bay St. Louis. The new officers will assume their duties beginning July 1, 2003.

Beth Carriere of the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau in Bay St. Louis was elected president of the over 325-member association while Walter Dorton of the Natchez Convention & Visitors Bureau was chosen executive vice-president. Anne Coggins of the Tunica Convention & Visitors Bureau was elected secretary/treasurer.

Vice-presidents elected from the various segments of the industry include Erroll Hotard of Hotard Coaches in Biloxi (restaurants/attractions); Mike Davis of the Beau Rivage in Biloxi (accommodations); Wanda Collier Wilson of the Jackson Convention & Visitors Bureau (tourist information organizations); Beau Whittington of Convention Display Service, Inc. in Jackson (tourist related organizations) and Kim Thomas of Grand Casino in Tunica (casino industry).

Joining the new officers as members of the Board of Directors are the following: Area 1 (Hills): Linda Butler of the Tupelo Convention & Visitors Bureau; Kelly Norris of the Oxford Tourism Council and Kim Terrell of Desoto County Tourism.

Area 2 (Delta): Kappi Allen of the Clarksdale Convention & Visitors Bureau; Bill Seratt of the Greenville Convention & Visitors Bureau and Cheryl Line of the Cleveland/Bolivar Chamber of Commerce.

Area 3 (Pines): Terry

Watkins of the Pearl River Resort & Casino in Philadelphia; Susan Evans of the Aberdeen Visitors Bureau and Michael McCalla of the Columbus Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Area 4 (Capitol/River): Hattie Ruder of the Ridgeland Tourism Commission; Lenore Barkley of the Vicksburg Convention & Visitors Bureau and Rene Adams of Dunleith Plantation in Natchez.

Area 5 (Coastal): Patrick Bell of the Hattiesburg Convention & Visitors Bureau; Annette Rand of the Days Inn Biloxi and Misty Vela'squez of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention & Visitors Bureau.

Directors-at-Large include Suzy Gordon of the Greenwood Convention & Visitors Bureau and Steve Richer of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Convention &

BETH CARRIERE

Visitors Bureau. Casino representative for the coming year is Eileen Duffin of Park Place Entertainment in Tunica.

Immediate past president of MTA, Fred Ruder of MMI Hotel Group in Jackson, noted, "Last year tourist spent over $6.4 billion inside our state while almost 94,000 people were employed within the hospitality industry which made tourism the state's largest private sector employer."

"This is an outstanding group of officers and directors, and I know they will help lead the organization to great accomplishments during the coming year," he added.

D'head business group to meet

The Diamondhead Business and Professional Association will meet Thursday, June 26, 8 a.m. at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Company fined $46,800 for job safety violations

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The U.S. Department of Labor fined a Louisiana-based company $46,800 for safety violations at a job site in Gulfport where a worker was injured by an electric shock.

The Occupational Safety and Health Administration cited Marlin Contracting Co., Inc. for a Jan. 2 accident.

Marlin Contracting, a utility contractor in Harvey, La., had eight employees working on a power line when one member of the crew, who had been on the job for two days, received a shock and severe burns. The worker remains partially paralyzed from his injuries.

OSHA issued 12 citations for violations of safety standards.

The company is charged with:

The guest speaker will be Tom McCormick, Director of the Hancock County Food Pantry. He will speak about how important the Food Pantry is in the lives of many citizens in the county. He will also mention his recent trip to Iraq as a U N weapons inspector.

Please bring some non-perishable food items to the meeting or to the business after hours as a donation to the food pantry.

The group's "Business After Hours" will be held the same day, 5-7 p.m., hosted by Clay Leyser and his staff at the Hancock Bank in Diamondhead.

Two upcoming events that members can participate will be the 100th

Centennial of Flight to be held on Sept. 20 & 21, 2003 at the Diamondhead Airport and the Annual Merchant's Fair, on Nov. 20th at the Diamondhead Country Club.

Booth space will be available for $75 for each event. The Airport Centennial will host 60 vintage and war bird planes, open to the public. The event is being held to raise funds for airport improvements. It will be the same weekend as the annual Arts & Crafts Fair held at the Country Club.

Our most valuable assets walk out the door at the end of every day.

From senior lender to junior teller, the people behind The Peoples Bank represent some of our greatest strengths and strongest assets.

Not that The Peoples Bank isn't quite strong in the conventional sense—we are supported by three times the capital required by regulators for banks our size.

Since 1896, we have helped build South Mississippi with a comprehensive menu of financial services to consumers and businesses—including loans, checking accounts, certificates of deposit, cash management, trust services, and online banking.

So stop by any of our 15 branches to say hello and meet some of the best bankers in South Mississippi. You'll learn that no financial institution can exceed The Peoples Bank in the size of our smiles.

JUNE TERM, 2003
DECLARE INTENT TO LEVY 4 MILLS
BAYSIDE FIRE DISTRICT
 Whereas it was moved by Supervisor Jay Cueva, the adoption of the following resolution:
 RESOLUTION OF THE HANCOCK COUNTY BOARD OF SUPERVISORS DECLARING THE INTENTION TO LEVY FOUR (4) MILLS UPON EACH DOLLAR OF ASSESSED VALUATION IN THE BAYSIDE FIRE DISTRICT, HANCOCK COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI.
 Whereas, the Board of Commissioners of the Bayside Fire District of Hancock County, Mississippi, at its meeting on May, 2003 by resolution unanimously adopted, requested the Hancock County Board of Supervisors to levy four (4) mills in accordance with Section 19-5-189 (2) (d), Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated; and
 Whereas, the proceeds of said levy shall be used for the operation, maintenance and purchase of equipment for the Bayside Fire District; and
 Whereas, the intention to levy the tax shall be published once a week for three (3) consecutive weeks in a newspaper published in the county and having a general circulation therein and a copy of this resolution shall also be posted at three (3) public places in the county for a period of at least twenty-one (21) days during the time of its publication in a newspaper; if more than twenty (20) percent of the qualified electors of the Bayside Fire District, within twenty-one (21) days after adoption of the resolution of intent to levy the tax, petition requesting an election on the levy shall not be made unless authorized by a majority of the votes cast at an election to be called and held for that purpose with the district.
 NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED THAT the Board of Supervisors of Hancock County, Mississippi, intends to levy four (4) mills upon each dollar of assessed valuation in the Bayside Fire District, proceeds of which to be used for operation, maintenance and purchase of equipment, effective January 1, 2003 pursuant to Section 19-5-189 (2) (d), Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated; and that the Clerk be and he is hereby authorized and directed to advertise this resolution as set out in the foregoing.
 The matter then being put to a roll call vote, the result was as follows:
 Those voting Yes: Supervisors Lynnie Ladner, Rodrick Pullman, Jay Cueva, Steve Seymour and Jay Cueva.
 Those voting No: None.
 The motion having received the unanimous affirmative vote of all members of the Board, the President declared the motion carried this the 11th day of June, 2003.
 Published by Order of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors dated this the 11th day of June, 2003.

Auction draws 94 bidders

Saturday's widely anticipated sale of land in Jackson, Hancock and Pearl River counties drew 94 bidders from four states, resulting in the sale of 2,410 acres for a total of $3,054 million.

"We sold a lot of land today," said Craig King, president of J.P. King Auction Company, of Gadsden, Ala., which managed the sale. "We had a fantastic turnout, and we were very pleased with the results," he said.

The sellers were happy as well. "We'd always like a little more, of course, but some people got some good deals, and we accomplished what we set out to do as well," said seller William Mitchell. "I was happy with the turnout and wouldn't be surprised if we decided to handle some future land sales in J.P. King auctions," he added.

The sale, held at the Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center in Biloxi, drew bidders from Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas and Alabama for a bidding contest that continued for almost four hours.

With live music in the background, more than 300 people crowded into the room for the auction. In all, 18 individual bidders purchased parts of the property. Among those buying the larger amounts were:

Davis Riddle, of Columbia, Miss., who purchased 932 acres in Jackson County for $800,071.

Stovall keeps Biloxi Xpress on track

Team includes Bay St. Louis players

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Each year, the Biloxi Soccer League forms competitive soccer teams in its Division I select soccer program - The Biloxi Xpress Soccer Club. Select soccer tryouts on June 28th, July 12th & 13th will be offered for both boys and girls. Select soccer is the highest level of competition for the kids who are interested in improving their skills and taking their game to the next level. It is an opportunity for the kids to be trained and coached by college coaches and experienced trainers. It is their chance to join a soccer club to enjoy the fun of playing soccer and to represent Biloxi playing teams from other cities.

Biloxi will have the guidance of local college soccer coach, Doug Stovall, as the Director of Coaching for Biloxi's Select program. Stovall has 17 years Collegiate Coaching Experience, USSF National License, Seven Collegiate National Tournament Appearances, Final Four Finishes-1997, 1998, 2001, Miss. Olympic Development Coach, 7 MYSA State Titles, and 4 Runner Up Finishes. Coach Stovall and his staff bring a great deal of experience and knowledge of the game. All coaches are nationally or state certified and have college or professional experience. The advanced play will help kids prepare for junior high and varsity soccer and will offer players the opportunity at some Olympic development training, if they advance that far. State college coaches are known to scout select soccer teams and track a player's development leading up to college.

Soccer is the fastest growing sport in Biloxi as well as across the country. And given the recent success and momentum generated by the U.S. Men's and Women's World Cup Soccer Teams and having a successful college coach in our backyard, it is great that Biloxi takes advantage of this opportunity. The kids and parents throughout our community have already expressed a lot of excitement about select soccer. The girls want to be like Mia Hamm, and the boys favor young superstar Landon Donovan. The players really try to emulate these superstars' talents, and even some of the younger kids have demonstrated unusual ball handling skills, creative scoring and tenacious play.

Teams focus their training on skill development, individual improvement and team work. It builds great self esteem in the players. The parents who have had their children involved in either district or state competition have a better understanding of what is involved and know how much fun soccer can be for the players and the whole family. Soccer is, of course, the perfect family experience. The whole family can come to the game, sit right on the side line, with their lawn chairs, pop ups tents, enjoy the outdoors and see action-packed, non-stop play.

The league's goal this year is to provide each child advanced training, and make sure it is an enjoyable experience for everyone involved.

Biloxi Xpress teams have won 2 State Championships, have been State Finalists 6 times, have won 12 tournament championships, and have finished runner up 21 times. Several of the players advanced to play for Mississippi's Olympic Development teams.

People's Bank steps up to help Hope Haven

THE SEA COAST ECHO

The 16 branches of People Bank always welcome large depositors ... but for the next few weeks, they will also cater to the "small depositors." The Bank has agreed to serve as collection points for the "Pennies from Heaven" fundraiser for Hope Haven Children's Shelter.

The non profit shelter's donations dropped "off the radar screen" when the war started and they have had to use over twenty thousand dollars of their reserve funds to meet current operating expenses.

"We want you pennies!" declares shelter manager Terry Latham. I know everyone has some pennies stuck in a desk drawer, hiding under their seat cushions, collecting lint in the bottom of your purse or pockets ... and we want to put them to work providing food, clothing and services to children who have been abused in mind and body and spirit."

The charity is asking EVERYONE to turn their pennies into one of the Peoples Bank branches along the coast. "We care for children from across the coast and we are asking everyone from along the coast to help us out." The charity, a member of the United Way of South Mississippi, was recently selected as the best small non profit in Ms. for 2002. Hope Haven has served more than 1,500 local children since opening in 1996. Hope Haven will announce the total donated after the 4th of July holiday.

Stroke screening offered in Pass

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Residents living in and around the Pass Christian and Gulfport, Miss., communities can be screened to reduce their risk of having a stroke. Life Line Screening will be at the Trinity Episcopal Church on July 2nd and the Charles L. Walker Senior Citizens Center on July 16th. The site is located at 125 Church Avenue in Pass Christian. Appointments will begin at 9:00 a.m. The senior center is located at 4010 West Beach Blvd in Gulfport. Appointments will begin at 9:00 a.m.

A stroke, also known as a "brain attack", is ranked as the third leading killer in the world, and the second among women. Through preventive screenings, the risk of having a stroke can be greatly reduced.

Screenings are fast, painless and low cost. They involve the use of ultrasound technology, and scan for potential health problems related to: blocked arteries which can lead to a stroke, aortic aneurysms which can lead to a ruptured aorta, and hardening of the arteries in the legs, which are a strong predictor of heart disease. Also offered for men and women, is a bone density screening to assess their risk for osteoporosis.

"Words are inadequate to express my gratitude to Life Line Screening. I will always be indebted to your company for your assistance in prolonging my life." Henry C. Atchinson, Orrville, Ala. (Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm)

Each screening requires ten minutes or less to complete. A complete vascular screening package, including the Stroke/Carotid Artery, Abdominal Aortic Aneurysm and Ankle Brachial Index (hardening of the arteries) screenings is $99. Sign-up for a complete vascular package; include the osteoporosis screening and pay only $125.

Life Line Screening was established in 1993, and has since become the nation's leading provider of vascular screenings. Over 45 ultrasound teams are on staff to travel to your local community, bringing the screenings to you. These non-invasive, inexpensive and painless, ultrasound tests help people identify their risk for stroke, vascular diseases or osteoporosis early enough for their physician to begin preventive procedures.

For more information regarding the screenings or to schedule an appointment, call 1-800-643-6188. Pre-registration is required.

Thieves try to break into St. Augustine retreat center in Bay

THE SEA COAST ECHO

In the late night of June 16 or early morning of June 17 thieves tried to break into the Father William J. Kelley Retreat Center in Bay St. Louis.

The Center is situated on the grounds of the St. Augustine Seminary.

Church officials said last week that "They tried to force open the lock on one door of the dining hall but failed to get in. They then tried to open various windows. They threw a brick through one window shattering it and creating a jagged hole about a foot in diameter. Apparently, the hole was not suitable for them to enter so they left without taking anything."

The retreat center was opened only on March 25. The building which they attempted to enter contained a dining hall and kitchen.

Various electrical equipment such as coffee pots, toasters and microwaves were probably the target. Since meals for the center are catered, there is not much food or drink kept there.

No visitors were using the facilities of the center at the time of the attempted break-in. There were fresh bicycle tracks in the mud near the dining hall.

RUDBECKIAS ARE A MUST FOR GARDENERS

BY NORMAN WINTER
MSU Horticulturist
Central Mississippi
Research & Extension
Center

As you drive down Mississippi's highways and by-ways, don't lament that we don't fare well with blue bonnets, because this year our own wild phlox, coreopsis, Queen Anne's lace and Indian Pinks have been as pretty as a painting.

Another of my favorite wildflowers -- the black-eyed Susan -- is just starting to advertise its landscape attributes to all who pass by. Their roadside performance should be a clear signal they will work just as well in our yards.

Botanically speaking, black-eyed Susans are Rudbeckias. Rudbeckia hirta is native to Mississippi, and Indian Summer, a Mississippi Medallion winner, is of this variety. It was also an All-America Selections winner and recently won the Cut Flower of the Year Award by the American Specialty Cut Flower Growers Association.

Indian Summer is one gorgeous flower even if it is an annual. The plant reaches 42 inches in height and produces its heart out with large, softball-size blooms. A mass planting of these combined with a mass of purple coneflowers will make your border look like you are the gardener of the year. Their site and care is fairly standard.

Also look for Prairie Sun, this year's All America Selections winner, with a primrose band around the petal tips.

There are 30 to 40 other species of Rudbeckia native to the United States. One of my favorites is the Rudbeckia fulgida. The Goldsturm variety was a Louisiana Select Plant of the Year and a U.S. Perennial Plant of the Year.

The flowers are not as large as Indian Summer, but they bloom from May until the first hard frost and then return in the spring. The leaves are fairly large, oval and dark green. Keep well watered during droughts, and remove dead flower heads for maximum bloom. Most years, gardeners are rewarded with more flower stalks being produced in late summer or early fall.

I occasionally run across a gardener who thinks these are too aggressive and vigorous, but I feel passionately that these are among the best plants for any gardener -- beginner or expert.

Rudbeckia fulgida are great planted along sunny borders. I have combined them with the Biloxi Blue and the violet Tapien verbenas. They also work well

Texas church shares love with Waveland

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

For the past four years volunteers from Cypress United Methodist Church near Houston, Texas, have come to Waveland to repaint, repair, replace, rebuild and renew homes and churches in need of some loving care.

When the group arrives they spend six to eight hours each day working on what are mostly outdoor projects arranged for them by Gulfside Methodist Assembly and Rev. Donald Peters at St. Rock United Methodist Church in Waveland. And for the privilege of working in the heat of the Mississippi summer each volunteer works all year to save the $200 that it costs for expenses to make the trip from Texas.

But what is amazing is that each volunteer is a young teen about to enter the seventh or eighth or ninth grade. The 60-plus teens are members of the Other members of the group also serve as counselors to handicapped children at a summer camp. Younger children do a mission program closer to home in Beaumont, Texas.

Gulfside Assembly serves as hosts to the group each year. This year they showed their appreciation by repainting tables and chairs, dig-

Henry and my thumb

I'm back. I hope you enjoyed my old stories while I've been gone. Of these twice-told tales, the ones that initiated the most responses in my absence were the Lee and Henry stories.

There are other events in my and Henry's relationship that you might enjoy in addition to those. Here is one.

Henry was a medical doctor and lived two doors up the street from us. In all the years we were neighbors (he and his family now live in the Bay), I only went to see him twice professionally and both times were house visits - his.

He has since made a turn in his medical career from being a general practitioner to being a psychiatrist. I have not gone to see him as yet in this new capacity. The first of the two times he treated me was the result of an incident involving he and I cutting wood for our fireplaces. We were behind Lee's house.

The wood cutting was a sort of community effort that would mean Lee, Henry and I would share the cut wood with the consortium's woodpile remaining behind Lee's house. When it came time to cut the wood, however, Lee had found he was needed somewhere else. So it was just Henry and myself doing the cutting and stacking.

It was hot work but we were going along fairly rapidly. I would hold each piece of wood on the sawhorse and Henry would cut them in two or three parts with a chain saw. We would then put them neatly on the woodpile that we made great pains to look like a new England winter scene.

All went well, when suddenly Henry hit a nail or something hard in the wood and the chain saw bucked loose from the log and hit my left hand.

I howled, dropped the wood, grabbed the injured hand with my other hand and started running around in a tight circle. Henry dropped the saw in amazement and then started chasing me.

"Let me see it! Let me see it!" he kept yelling. I wouldn't stop. I kept screaming and wouldn't let him near me.

Finally he yelled, "Damn it, Paul, I'm a doctor."

That seemed like such an incredible thing to say, that I stopped flabbergast-ed and looked at him. He quickly grabbed my hand and pulled my glove off.

"You're a doctor! You cut my hand off and then start bragging you're a doctor!"

"It's not cut off. Look, it's only superficial. See, it's just the thumb. Relax, for Pete's sake you have two of them."

He looked at me closely. "Come on, let's start walking over to my house. You look like you are going to faint and I don't want to have to carry you."

When we got to the house, he took me to the sink and, pushing aside some lunch dishes, told me to put my hand over the sink and stay there while he got his bag. It seemed he was gone a long time and I stood there impatiently, leaning on the sink edge with one hand holding the other over the sink.

At first I wouldn't look at the injured thumb. Then, when I looked about me and saw what was on the dirty dishes in the sink (spaghetti and tomato sauce and a half-eaten hot dog covered with heavy very red ketchup), I decided it was more comforting to look at my hand.

For some reason, the thumb wasn't bleeding much. You could see clearly where every tooth of the chain saw had cut into the

Magic Man

Dr. Magic visits Gulfview Elementary

During the last week of school, local magician, Dr. Magic, entertained students in grades K-5 at Gulfview Elementary in Lakeshore. All students helped with the show by saying the magic words before each trick and several participated on stage as Dr. Magic selected students to assist him with various magic tricks. This entertaining lesson was made possible through the districts School-to-Careers grant program that encourages career awareness, experience, and exploration.

about Chalmette Medical Center!

Why are medical professionals talking about CMC?

Whether you're a new graduate or a seasoned professional, CMC has what you're looking for: professional respect ... top working conditions ... a stable environment ... and an opportunity to make the most of your training and experience.

While other hospitals in our area have recently had to cut back on staff...CMC is growing. Our community recognizes the high standards we've set, and our team of medical professionals exemplify that standard. As a result, more patients are choosing Chalmette, and we need to expand our staff to keep pace with our successful growth.

You'll love working at CMC! We're looking for:

- Director of Emergency Room
- Nursing Supervisor
- Case Manager
- Mammography Tech
- Nuclear Medicine Tech
- X-Ray Tech
- Respiratory Therapist
- Art Therapist
- Physical Therapist
- Occupational Therapist
- Speech Therapist
- RNs: ICU, OR, ER, Cath Lab, Skilled, Med/Surg, Rehab

Low turnover, low agency staffing, new technology and high standards. At CMC we're giving our professionals the tools to better treat their patients ... and the flexibility to meet their personal and family commitments.

MDOT to hold public meetings on CSX relocation options

Mississippi Department of Transportation (MDOT) is offering a series of public meetings to present preliminary relocation alternatives for the CSX railroad line, according to Southern District Transportation Commissioner Wayne Brown.

The meetings will be held from 4:30 to 7:30 p.m. on June 23 at the St. Martin Community Center, 15008 Lemoyne Boulevard, Ocean Springs; June 26 at the Bay St. Louis Depot, Depot Way & Union Street, Bay St. Louis and June 30 at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College's Fine Arts Auditorium 2226 Switzer Road, Gulfport.

meetings are identical and are being offered in three different locations so that as many people as possible will have the opportunity to review proposed location options.

"It is extremely important for the public to participate in these informative meetings," Brown said. "I encourage everyone who can attend."

A consultant team led by DMJM+HARRIS, Inc. in conjunction with MDOT is working to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement (EIS) for the proposed relocation of the railroad which presently runs across the Mississippi Gulf Coast through the most densely developed portions of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson counties.

Preliminary relocation alternatives for CSX railroad line

June 26

4:30 o 7:30 p.m.

Bay St. Louis Depot,
Depot Way & Union Street

According to Brown, the study will attempt to identify the best feasible location for a new rail line and will seek the environmental clearances necessary to undertake design and construction of this proposed move.

"The existing railroad passes through the downtown districts of nine Mississippi Gulf Coast cities and accounts for 160 grade crossings in which a number of crashes have occurred just within the last five years. Since safety is one of MDOT's primary concerns, proper relocation of the line should be given priority as it is expected to greatly reduce collisions and remove hazardous cargo shipments from densely populated areas."

Claiborne Barnwell, MDOT environmental division engineer, said the meetings in each of the three coastal counties are expected to be conducted in an open forum type setting, however representatives of the project team will provide brief a presentation at 5 and 6 p.m.

"This will be an opportunity for the public to let us know what they think."

Barnwell said. "Based on what we hear at these meetings, we'll go back and revise the alternatives or develop new ones as necessary in order to minimize or avoid altogether adverse environmental impacts and community disruption."

Individuals attending the public meetings will have the opportunity to view the interactive project database developed by DMJM+HARRIS and other members of the consultant team, including Neel-Schaffer, Delta Data System, Waggoner Engineering, Consoer Townsend Envirodyne and Earth Search, Inc. The project team will use satellite imagery and other remote sensing products to help evaluate the likely impacts of proposed alternatives.

ging out drainage ditches on the property, and building a new play fort for the playground at the retreat.

Besides the work at the retreat, teams of kids poured out into the community, with projects at four other locations performing amazing feats in the week that they were here.

At St. Rock Church they removed a rotting floor from the church kitchen and replaced it, and rebuilt the handicapped ramp. At homes they repainted exteriors, repaired roofs, replaced fascia board and siding and rebuilt steps, supervised by adult and older teen volunteers, working at a pace that would put an experienced construction crew to shame.

Why do they do it? Certainly not for the material rewards, which are few, a late afternoon at the beach one day, an occasional snowball, and a trip for pizza.

"God just calls us to come help him, and so we do," said one of the teens.

Views

finger and even the nail. I became fascinated by the extreme perfection in the cuts made by each of the saw blades. As I bent forward staring at the wound, I heard a small voice beside me; I looked around and then down, it was Shannon, Henry's seven year old daughter.

"Can I see?" she asked.

I leaned back and grabbing a chair, she climbed up and bent over the sink to look.

"Who did that?" she whispered.

I felt malicious. I sighed and whispered back, "Your father."

She looked some more, her eyes growing large. "You know," she whispered, "I don't let him cut my fingernails. No way! He always cuts them too close to the quick and it hurts!"

"Move, Shannon." It was Henry, he was back.

Shannon stepped down and dragging the chair away, shook her head at me in warning as Henry started sticking needles into various places in the thumb. Then, when he announced in a loud voice that he "would have to cut away some of the loose skin," Shannon's head started shaking even more strongly in warning and she quickly left the room.

I began to watch Henry as he worked.

He seemed to me to be entirely too content about what he was doing. I expected him to start humming to himself any second.

"You know, Henry," I said after awhile, "I am not going to pay you for this. What you have done here is a more than just a little unethical. Its like oiling the downside of hill road or putting false lights on a lee shore. Sort of an active entrapment."

"You really should wait till I'm through before you tell me that," he said not lifting his head from his work. It got quiet except for the snip, snip of his scissors and me, licking my lips, watching him work.

There, damn it, he was humming.

with asters, goldenrods, homestead purple verbena, and liatris or gay feather.

The Rudbeckia triloba is another outstanding species for Mississippi. This is a Georgia Gold Medal winner, and it could qualify here as well. It is a prolific blooming perennial that is sometimes treated as an annual.

It has an abundance of yellow flowers with button-shaped, black centers produced at the ends of many-branched stems. It is very erect, growing about 3 feet tall, spreading and bushy. The leaves are dark green and divided into three oval parts, hence the name triloba.

Rudbeckia triloba originated on the prairies of the United States. Plant in full sun in organic-rich beds. To extend the plant's life, promptly cut back flowers just as the bloom finishes, or let the seeds ripen and collect them.

Plant in the middle of the border with cosmos, zinnias or the new Angelmist angelonias called Summer Snapdragons. Be bold and create large drifts of color.

If you would like a Rudbeckia with a green eye, look no further than Irish Eyes. This plant has a green cone and single flowers opening 4 to 5 inches across. With foliage reaching about 30 inches tall, Irish Eyes are striking and unusual. They are grown as annuals or short-lived perennials.

If conditioned, black-eyed Susans are great cut flowers with a long vase life. The secret is to place a cardboard sheet on top of a deep pan containing 100- to 110-degree water. Cut holes in the cardboard to allow the stems to be placed through it and into the water. When the petals are flat and the stem straight, it is ready for the vase.

We can learn a lot from the roadside, especially when it comes to tough, beautiful flowers. Once we have learned this lesson, the next step is to take a trip to the garden center to get our own flowers.

USMGC business students honored at awards ceremony

Twelve business students from The University of Southern Mississippi Gulf Coast were recognized recently at the Division of Business Administration's 2003 Excellence in Business Awards Luncheon.

The luncheon, held at the Gulf Park Conference Center Auditorium in Long Beach on April 27, was hosted by ChevronTexaco Pascagoula Refinery.

"These students represent something unique among Mississippi's higher education programs," said Dr. Walt Taylor, professor of finance and chair of the USMGC Division of Business Administration. "The differences are that most work full time, have families and mortgages and go to the university part time. The remarkable thing is that they balance their commitments so well."

Business management majors Wade Howk, a junior from Gulfport, and Celia Wilcox, a senior from Waveland, won the Excellence in Management award, sponsored by ChevronTexaco.

Accounting major Darlene Bilbo, a senior from Bay St. Louis, won the Scholarship Award, sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Society of CPAs.

Accounting major Justin Wadsworth, a senior from Diamondhead, received the Special Achievement Award, sponsored by the USMGC Division of Business Administration.

Dr. Phillip Jeffress, professor and director of the Gulf South Economic Research Center, earned the Outstanding Faculty Award.

AD VALOREM ADVERTISEMENT

The Hancock County School District will hold a public hearing on its proposed school district budget for fiscal year 2003-2004 on June 26, 2003 at 5:30 p.m. at the office of the Superintendent. At this meeting a proposed ad valorem tax effort increase shall be considered.

The Hancock County School District is now operating with a projected total budget revenue of $28,917,633.86. 34.84% or $10,075,000.00 of such revenue is obtained through ad valorem taxes. For the next fiscal year, the proposed budget has total projected revenue of $30,725,693.87. Of that amount, 33.07% or $10,300,000.00, is proposed to be financed through a total ad valorem tax levy.

For the next fiscal year, the Hancock County School District plans to increase Ad valorem tax efforts by 0 mill (Current millage - 47.64).

This increase in ad valorem tax revenue means that you will pay the same in Hancock County School District Ad valorem taxes on your home, automobile tag, utilities, business fixtures and equipment and rental real property.

Any citizen of the Hancock County School District is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed ad valorem tax increase, and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before any vote is taken.

Facts About The BIBLE

BY JOHN LEHTI

"OFF WITH HIS HEAD!"

AMONG THE ANCIENT RULERS WE FIND SOME TYRANTS WHO TOOK THE LAW INTO THEIR OWN HANDS. WHEN DISPLEASED WITH ONE OF THEIR SUBJECTS IT WAS NOT UNUSUAL FOR THEM TO BELLOW, "OFF WITH HIS HEAD!" NO ONE QUESTIONED THEIR AUTHORITY OR COULD DEMAND A COURT TRIAL. IT WAS JUST AN OPEN AND SHUT CASE! ON THE OTHER HAND THE ISRAELITES WERE UNDER MOSAIC LAW WHICH PRESCRIBED CERTAIN PROCEDURES FOR ALL PEOPLE WHO MIGHT BE ACCUSED OF A CRIME. IT FELL TO THE ELDERS, MEN OF MATURE AGE, TO JUDGE THE OFFENDER, CONSIDERING ALL THE EVIDENCE AGAINST HIM AND FINALLY DECIDE HIS INNOCENCE OR GUILT. THE MORALITY OF THE MOSAIC LAW, STRICT AS IT WAS, GAVE EACH ACCUSED THE PERSONAL DIGNITY OF PRESENTING THE FACTS OF HIS CASE. THE PETTY RULERS DESTROYED HUMAN RIGHTS AND DIGNITY, JUDGING ALL CASES ON THE BASIS OF THEIR OWN NARROW VIEWPOINT. USUALLY IN AN AROUSED STATE OF ANGER, THE LAWS WHICH THE ISRAELITES ADHERED TO ALTHOUGH THEY WERE SEVERE, WERE MORALLY EXACT.

Our mind, motives, will

Waiting for my car to be serviced, I paced slowly in the warm zephyrs of late spring, piecing notes together for writing.

Suddenly, my nose stung and my eyes smarted as the burning stench of nicotine assaulted me. A glance to the left immediately pinpointed the source in the fingers of a lady puffing a cigarette about 20 feet away. I moved past her to 20 feet on the other side.

When she observed my maneuver, I explained: "I'm just getting upwind of your cigarette. It was afflicting me downwind. I am okay now."

"Please forgive me for troubling you," she said wistfully. "I have no business smoking cigarettes. The sad part is that I know better: I know that smoking is bad for my heart, bad for my lungs and bad for my health in general. Sadder still, by profession I am deeply involved in education where these health problems are taught every day."

"So, why haven't you quit smoking? You are intelligent, well-spoken, highly educated and evidently well motivated."

"I just don't know. For many years now, I have been trying to kick the habit. You will find this hard to believe, but many years ago when my body rejected tranquilizers, my doctor recommended that I smoke cigarettes to relax. That, of course, was before the worst was known about smoking."

"For about 7 years, I did not inhale, but after I did begin there was no turning back. I have tried the patch, the gum, prayer, even hypnosis. My daughter did manage to kick the habit, but I just cannot remove the hook."

This is the only part of my life I cannot control. It's frustrating."

She readily consented when I asked whether I could tell her story briefly in writing. "I will not use your name," I assured her, although that did not seem to matter. Intelligence, education, even high motivation and prayer do not suffice to wipe out chemical dependence in most cases. Many people in the know believe the nicotine hook is the hardest of all.

The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention completed a study of more than 32,000 adults in 2000 and found that about 23.3 percent were smokers. The doctors breathed a sigh of relief, for that was down 25 percent from a study done in 1993. Interestingly, 70 percent would like to quit.

A very strong parallel is appropriate here. Even with the specter of cancer, emphysema, heart disease and other ills looming near them, relatively few people have the motivation and the will to kick the habit. Likewise, faced by diabetes, hypertension and heart disease, few have the will to resist bad food.

I challenge those who say

Reflections
on Life

by Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

nicotine is the hardest addictive hook of all to make close comparisons between badly hooked smokers and the untold millions of people who cannot seem to control themselves at all when the choice is either not eat animal fats and carbohydrates or die of diseases.

There is no doubt in my mind that food addiction is the No. 1 in the United States, if not in the world. Oddly, even after diabetes, hypertension, cancer or some other lethal disease has set in, even after people have been instructed that severe food control is the only remedy, few give up the food.

It seems to defy logic that the enjoyment and instant gratification of rich, mouth-watering foods which trigger serious imbalances of cholesterol, blood pressure, sugar count and PSA level can be so overpowering that a person chooses this pleasure over deliverance from disease, pain and death.

Somewhat understandable in children and young adults whose bodies can withstand the unhealthy siege by sludge-producing foods, greedy indulgence in such lethal foods by mature adults is beyond all understanding. A steady accumulation of plaque and sludge over the years will surely destroy us.

"Why don't you write more about the dangers of poor eating habits in our young children?" was among the first questions fired at me a week ago when I bumped into Jerome Smith in a big discount store.

Jerome Smith, civil rights and community organizer from his days of marching with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. down to his decades of working with black children through the famous Tambourine and Fan Club, is very alarmed by recent studies showing 4 percent plaque in the veins of children.

Of course, we know that the bulk of our food culture is based on decades of nutritional and medical ignorance through which meat, dairy and other food producers have foisted butter fat, beef fat, pork fat, sugar and salt upon our families. Some companies have been caught targeting kids for fast food addiction. No wonder so many have become irrepressible food addicts.

It is most curious that not even prayer has managed to rescue the victim in many cases of nicotine and food addiction. So where does this lead the mix of our mind, motives and will to change wherever we must change?

Don't blame God, faith or prayer. Our problem is clear: We want to have our cake/fat/salt and eat it too. We want to enjoy the best of both worlds, which, of course, we can never have. While leaning on the Everlasting Arms, all these things must begin with the cradle and home atmosphere.

The "Word" for the Week
That which we have seen

Dennis J. Prutow • Box 303, Sterling, KS 67579

Do you enjoy reading the daily paper? Most people do. Why? They want to get the news. And what is reported? The reporters go out to see and hear what is taking place in the world.

If there has been a tornado or hurricane, they report what they have seen and heard. Then there are also editorials on the news.

For the most part, these editorials are comments and interpretations of world events. There was a time when events were interpreted from a biblical perspective. But that is off the point. When we read the Bible, we get what the writers have seen and heard.

Listen to the apostle John for example, "What was from the beginning, what we have heard, what we have seen with our eyes, what we beheld and our hands handled, concerning the Word of life and the life was manifested, and we have seen and bear witness and proclaim to you the eternal life...." (1 John 1: 1-2).

You see, the Christian faith is not something which is beyond our view or beyond our senses. There is not a deep impassible chasm between this world and the world to come. The fact is, it is possible to know God. First of all, God has revealed Himself through the creation.

As Psalm 19:1 says, "The heavens declare the glory of God". But God has also revealed Himself in Jesus Christ. Christ came into the world, born of a virgin. He lived a perfect life. He died on a cross to pay for the sins of people like you and me. He rose again to prove that sacrifice was acceptable to God the Father. All of this was seen and heard. The Bible reports what was seen and heard as good news. That's what the gospel is, good news.

Scripture Says . . .

By Ed Young

Who do you think this scripture pertains to and the event?

"My God, my God, why has thou forsaken me? Why art thou so far from helping me and from the words of my roaring?" Psalms 22:1. (3,000 years ago)

Isaiah writes 2,800 years ago (Chapter 53, verse 3-6): He is despised and rejected of men, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief, and we hid as it were our faces from Him; He was despised and we esteemed Him not.

Surely He has borne our griefs, and carried our sorrows; yet, we did esteem Him stricken, smitten of God, and afflicted.

But, He was wounded for our transgressions. He was bruised for our iniquities. The chastisement for our peace was upon Him, and with His stripes we are healed.

All we like sheep have gone astray; we have turned everyone to his own way and the Lord has laid on Him the iniquity of us all.

David and Isaiah's predictions came to pass when Jesus went to Calvary's cross. Their prediction was under the influence of the Holy Spirit.

Reading these scriptures daily would quicken the meaning of what Jesus has done for us. That event at Calvary would become very personal. We would begin to really understand His love for us.

Pre-registration for fall classes at Gulf Coast Comm. College

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Don't let the heat fool you. It's time to start thinking about fall classes at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College. Early registration runs all summer and ensures students get the classes and instructors that work best with their schedules. Fall classes start Aug. 25.

Current students can pre-register on campus or on the college's website at www.mgcc.edu. New students can apply online but go through an on-campus orientation and advising before signing up for fall classes. Each campus will hold orientation and advising sessions throughout the summer.

All students who pre-register should make a payment or payment arrangements by Aug. 17 to reserve their classes. Students with financial aid should contact their campus's Financial Aid office before registration. All Gulf Coast campuses will have regular registration Aug. 20-21.

Pre-registration for active duty military is available on the web Aug. 4-14 for the Keesler Center. Keesler will have regular registration for all students by appointment Aug. 18-26. Classes will begin Sept. 2. For more information, contact the Admissions Office at any location:

Casino Magic plans three-day July 4th celebration fireworks

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beginning July 3 with a free fireworks display at 9 p.m., Casino Magic Bay St. Louis kicks off the holiday with a bang.

First, the deluxe fireworks show will be choreographed to patriotic music and free to the public. Then July 4 and 5, "A Salute To America's Golden Oldies" will be split into two days. July 4, The Coasters, The Drifters and The Platters will perform all their hits in one show beginning at 9 p.m. July 5, the legendary ladies of the 50s rock era Lesley Gore, Peggy March, The Chiffons, The Angels, The Marvellettes and The Shangri-Las all perform on one stage.

Tickets for each show, sold separately, are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and can be purchased at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or at any Ticketmaster location.

A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Friday, July 4 - The Gentlemen The Coasters are the supreme comedians of rock and roll. What's more, their impact has deepened with time.

Their songs, their parodies and the tunes that became million-selling records are revived in this new generation of music. The Coasters were the first vocal group to be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They have appeared in 6 major movies and have amassed over 100 million record sales in their career. And to this date, their act is one of the liveliest and funniest in show business. Their hits include "Charlie Brown", "Along Came Jones", "Yakety Yak", and "Love Potion #9".

The Drifters. The Legendary Elsbeary Hobbs performed on the greatest Drifter hits of all time from 1958 until his untimely death in 1996. Now, Hobbs' wife, Odessa Hobbs, has united many of late husband's former band members as the Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters to commemorate much of the great material to which he contributed so artistically. Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters blends a tasteful mixture of their million sellers with contemporary standards, all presented within the context of the Drifters famous patented choreography. Their hits include "There Goes My Baby", "This Magic Moment", "Save the Last Dance For Me", "On Broadway", and "Under The Boardwalk".

The Platters formed in 1953 and by 1955 recorded the ballad "Only You" which was the beginning of stardom for the group that was to become the most popular vocal group of the fifties. To date, they have four number one songs and sixteen gold records. They have toured in 75 countries across the world and still spend much time abroad.

Playing venues from Madison Square Garden to the Bottom Line, the group is still delighting audiences on a regular basis. In 1990 The Platters were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Their hits include "Only You", "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes", "Ebb Tide", "Twilight Time", and "The Great Pretender". A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Saturday, July 5 - The Ladies Lesley Gore first entered the Top 40 charts with the #1 hit, "It's My Party", in May of 1963, just after her 17th birthday. She quickly racked up several more hit records as she became the standard bearer for teenage angst. Such Top 5 hits as "Judy's Turn To Cry", "She's A Fool", and "You Don't Own Me" united teenage girls around the world with someone who seemed to be going through the same things they were. Leslie recorded eleven Top 40 hits total, all before her 21st birthday. She continues to delight audiences around the world.

Peggy March had one big hit during her decade with RCA Records, and that was when she was 15 years old. But that song, "I Will Follow Him," spent three weeks at the number one spot on the charts and even topped the R&B charts for a week as well. Her subsequent hits, "I Wish I Were a Princess" and "Hello Heartache, Goodbye Love," also scored on the Top 40.

The Chiffons were one of the best early-'60s New York-girl groups, combining sassiness and innocence on several of the style's greatest classics including their first number on hit "He's So Fine." They followed that hit with the "One Fine Day," and later recorded other memorable hits "I Have a Boyfriend" and the Motown-influenced "Sweet Talkin' Guy".

The Angels' 1963 number one hit, "My Boyfriend's Back," is one of the half-dozen or so girl group classics.

Hand clap beats, sassy vocals, slightly campy lyrics, and an arrangement paced by wailing horns and street corner harmonies; it was a surefire hit. The Angels had actually been around for a while before "My Boyfriend's Back," making the Top 20 in 1961 with the ballad "Till," and the Top 40 with a follow-up, "Cry Baby Cry".

The Shangri-Las were the greatest girl group, combining an innocent adolescent charm with more than a hint of darkness, singing about dead bikers, teenage runaways, and doomed love affairs as well as ebullient high-school crushes. "Leader of the Pack," with its periodic motorcycle roars and crescendo of crashing glass, was the death-rock classic became the Shangri-Las' signature tune, reaching number one. They followed that with "Give Him a Great Big Kiss" and "I Can Never Go Home Anymore," a runaway tale that took their patented pathos to the extreme.

Casino Magic plans three-day July 4th celebration fireworks

THE SEA COAST ECHO
Beginning July 3 with a free fireworks display at 9 p.m., Casino Magic Bay St. Louis kicks off the holiday with a bang.

First, the deluxe fireworks show will be choreographed to patriotic music and free to the public. Then July 4 and 5, "A Salute To America's Golden Oldies" will be split into two days. July 4, The Coasters, The Drifters and The Platters will perform all their hits in one show beginning at 9 p.m. July 5, the legendary ladies of the 50s rock era Lesley Gore, Peggy March, The Chiffons, The Angels, The Marvellettes and The Shangri-Las all perform on one stage.

Tickets for each show, sold separately, are $14.95, $19.95 and $24.95 and can be purchased at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or at any Ticketmaster location.

A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Friday, July 4 - The Gentlemen The Coasters are the supreme comedians of rock and roll. What's more, their impact has deepened with time.

Their songs, their parodies and the tunes that became million-selling records are revived in this new generation of music. The Coasters were the first vocal group to be inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. They have appeared in 6 major movies and have amassed over 100 million record sales in their career. And to this date, their act is one of the liveliest and funniest in show business. Their hits include "Charlie Brown", "Along Came Jones", "Yakety Yak", and "Love Potion #9".

The Drifters. The Legendary Elsbeary Hobbs performed on the greatest Drifter hits of all time from 1958 until his untimely death in 1996. Now, Hobbs' wife, Odessa Hobbs, has united many of late husband's former band members as the Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters to commemorate much of the great material to which he contributed so artistically. Elsbeary Hobbs' Drifters blends a tasteful mixture of their million sellers with contemporary standards, all presented within the context of the Drifters famous patented choreography. Their hits include "There Goes My Baby", "This Magic Moment", "Save the Last Dance For Me", "On Broadway", and "Under The Boardwalk".

The Platters formed in 1953 and by 1955 recorded the ballad "Only You" which was the beginning of stardom for the group that was to become the most popular vocal group of the fifties. To date, they have four number one songs and sixteen gold records. They have toured in 75 countries across the world and still spend much time abroad. Playing venues from Madison Square Garden to the Bottom Line, the group is still delighting audiences on a regular basis. In 1990 The Platters were inducted into The Rock and Roll Hall of Fame. Their hits include "Only You", "Smoke Gets In Your Eyes", "Ebb Tide", "Twilight Time", and "The Great Pretender". A Salute To America's Golden Oldies Saturday, July 5 - The Ladies Lesley Gore first entered the Top 40 charts with the #1 hit, "It's My Party", in May of 1963, just after her 17th birthday. She quickly racked up several more hit records as she became the standard bearer for teenage angst. Such Top 5 hits as "Judy's Turn To Cry", "She's A Fool", and "You Don't Own Me" united teenage girls around the world with someone who seemed to be going through the same things they were. Leslie recorded eleven Top 40 hits total, all before her 21st birthday. She continues to delight audiences around the world.

Peggy March had one big hit during her decade with RCA Records, and that was when she was 15 years old. But that song, "I Will Follow Him," spent three weeks at the number one spot on the charts and even topped the R&B charts for a week as well. Her subsequent hits, "I Wish I Were a Princess" and "Hello Heartache, Goodbye Love," also scored on the Top 40.

The Chiffons were one of the best early-'60s New York girl groups, combining sassiness and innocence on several of the style's greatest classics including their first number on hit "He's So Fine." They followed that hit with the "One Fine Day," and later recorded other memorable hits "I Have a Boyfriend" and the Motown-influenced "Sweet Talkin' Guy".

The Angels' 1963 number one hit, "My Boyfriend's Back," is one of the half-dozen or so girl group classics.

Hand clap beats, sassy vocals, slightly campy lyrics, and an arrangement paced by wailing horns and street corner harmonies; it was a surefire hit. The Angels had actually been around for a while before "My Boyfriend's Back," making the Top 20 in 1961 with the ballad "Till," and the Top 40 with a follow-up, "Cry Baby Cry."

The Shangri-Las were the greatest girl group, combining an innocent adolescent charm with more than a hint of darkness, singing about dead bikers, teenage runaways, and doomed love affairs as well as ebullient high-school crushes. "Leader of the Pack," with its periodic motorcycle roars and crescendo of crashing glass, was the death-rock classic became the Shangri-Las' signature tune, reaching number one. They followed that with "Give Him a Great Big Kiss" and "I Can Never Go Home Anymore," a runaway tale that took their patented pathos to the extreme.

The Marvellettes were probably the most pop-oriented of Motown's major female acts, and they recorded Motown's first number one single, "Please Mr. Postman." "Postman," as well as other early-'60s hits like "Playboy," "Twistin' Postman," and "Beechwood 4-5789," were the label's purest girl group efforts. The Marvellettes also recorded such classic hits like "Too Many Fish in the Sea," "Don't Mess With Bill," and "The Hunter Gets Captured By the Game."

Celebrity Scoop

Checking in with Andrew Dan-Jumbo

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

He recently was named one of People magazine's 50 Most Beautiful People, but carpenter-turned-TV-celebrity Andrew Dan-Jumbo of The Learning Channel's "While You Were Out" has some doubts about the magazine's bare-chested photo of him.

"It's my body, and it's my head," he says, "but I don't recall that exact pose. It's weird. I think they've gone into Photoshop and done some editing."

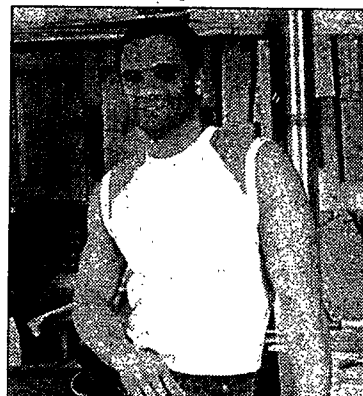

But don't think he's not happy to be there. "I'm definitely not one of the 50 most beautiful people in the world," he says, "but I'll take the opportunity to appear in the magazine."

"I felt somewhat validated in the things I'd done on the show this season. And I'm keeping company with the likes of George Clooney and Brad Pitt."

Nigerian-born Dan-Jumbo came to the United States in 1991 to work with his brother, who had settled in Buffalo, N.Y. The two founded Eurotek, a commercial and residential construction company.

Today, Dan-Jumbo balances running Eurotek with his burgeoning career as TLC's newest addition to a carpentry family that already includes Ty Pennington and Amy Wynn Pastor of "Trading Spaces."

Dan-Jumbo tours the country with "While You Were Out," which does two-day home and garden

Food Network finds out who's at home on the range

By Karl J. Paloucek
© Zap2it

You're given two hours to make a fabulous meal with a mystery main ingredient, using a full kitchen. Now imagine a $20 limit for groceries and subtracting your shopping trip from your two-hours-til-serving time. It sounds hard, but it's harder than it sounds.

Dozens of people across the country have been putting themselves to the test as Food Network's "Food Fight," airing Thursdays, wends its way from state to state, picking indigenous ingredients from every region and forcing them on unsuspecting, oddly coupled teams. Can the grandmas out-muscle the Hell's Angels where mussels are the order of the day? It's a heckuva challenge, and it's nerve-racking to watch.

"We've never had anyone not finish," host JD Roberto says. "We've had people not finish the way they wanted to. We've had people just have to throw stuff on plates and put it down, which is a disappointment." Like that other Food Network competition staple, Iron Chef, there's a lot of pandemonium in those last few minutes.

"Two hours sounds like it's not enough time," Roberto says of the rule. "Sometimes it's too much. The hardest part is not necessarily finishing in two hours, but getting everything to come out together. We had someone make risotto in Chicago, but they finished it really early. And so it sat for a half-hour before it went to the judges, and that's not good for risotto."

Roberto is quick to point out how versatility in the "secret" main ingredient can affect the contest. "If you give someone crabs, they're probably going to make crab cakes," he says, referring to their recent trip to Baltimore. "At the same time, when you give someone a breast of chicken, the possibilities are endless. You really get to see what they've got, creatively."

Jill Marie Jones

Jill Marie Jones of UPN's Monday-night sitcom "Girlfriends" is enjoying her show's hiatus. "I'm doing the same things I'm sure most actresses on hiatus do - reading scripts and taking meetings," she says. "I write, but that's

Horoscope This Week

By Caroline James - Zap2it

June 22 through June 28, 2003

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Aries (March 21 - April 20)

Turn over a new leaf at home, and you'll be pleasantly surprised. Things will start to go your way, and problems you've been having will clear up.

Taurus (April 21 - May 20)

Communication and related electronics will be on your mind. You should consider investing more time in this area.

Gemini (May 21 - June 20)

It might be time to clean out your closets to make room for new stuff. You may have come into some money that has you itching to shop.

Cancer (June 21 - July 20)

You'll be a little more talkative than you have been lately, which will have those closest to you happy to keep your company.

Leo (July 21 - Aug. 21)

Clear your head by spending some quality time with your best friend - you. Solitude will do you some good.

Virgo (Aug. 22 - Sept. 22)

A new moon has people knocking at your door, so you might add some new contacts to your social circle. Count your blessings.

Libra (Sept. 23 - Oct. 22)

You'll have the opportunity to try your hand at something new careerwise. Show your appreciation.

Scorpio (Oct. 23 - Nov. 22)

You'll be exposed to some new ideas about the world, which might lead you to see things in a different light. This is a good thing.

Sagittarius (Nov. 23 - Dec. 20)

You could receive money in the mail you weren't expecting. If you do, save it. You are going to need it.

Capricorn (Dec. 21 - Jan. 19)

Relationships will be at the top of your priority list - you'll either commit to keeping them or ditching them. It's all up to you.

Aquarius (Jan. 20 - Feb. 18)

Any sort of health issues you had earlier this month should be cleared up now, so be very thankful.

Pisces (Feb. 19 - March 20)

Children should be on your mind right now. You might have to care for them, or you might find out your family will be expanding.

Sarah Jessica Parker braces for the end of 'Sex' on HBO

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

It's set in the "city that never sleeps," but "Sex and the City" soon will be put to bed.

The Emmy-winning HBO comedy about the lives and loves of four female friends in New York starts its sixth and final season Sunday, June 22, with the first of 12 episodes airing weekly through the summer. Then, the series will return in January with its last eight tales, making for the most stories the show ever has done in one season - partially to compensate for last year's abbreviated run, which accommodated the pregnancy of star and co-producer Sarah Jessica Parker, and also because the cast and crew know this is the end.

The season begins as columnist Carrie Bradshaw (Parker) debates whether a fellow writer (Ron Livingston, held over from the end of last season) is worth enduring the rites of new romance. Publicist Samantha Jones (Kim Cattrall) fears her neighborhood is getting too trendy, and lawyer and single mom Miranda Hobbes (Cynthia Nixon) reconsiders her relationship with her baby's father, Steve (David Eigenberg). Charlotte York (Kristin Davis) frets over the refusal of her Jewish boyfriend, Harry (Evan Handler), to marry a non-Jew ... like Charlotte.

While she knows she'll greet the end of "Sex and the City" with mixed emotions, Parker claims she doesn't know certain details of just how it will end. "Of all the characters' endings, Carrie's is the one that's not really defined yet," she says. "The other women have very specific endings in place, but Carrie's depends on whether she makes a certain decision, and how that matures. She is approaching her life in much the way the city feels right now; it's recovering, and similarly, Carrie feels optimistic and very hopeful.

"She's feeling perfectly fine, and not as emotionally charged," Parker continues. "I think her philosophy is, 'I have a successful book and potentially successful relationships to experience.' It feels pretty good and nice and breezy, but it's possible that just when she's gotten comfortable with that, something big will happen."

As for the other ladies? Parker reports, "Samantha meets a new person with whom she has a really nice and long and colorful relationship. Miranda reconciles some feelings that are surprising to her, and Charlotte consciously makes a fundamental change and moves forward in her relationship with Harry."

"Sex and the City" fans are familiar with Carrie's past suitors, including former fiancé Aidan (John Corbett, now the star of the FX series "Lucky"), and the apparent love of her life, Mr. Big (Chris Noth). One of them certainly will reappear this season, per Parker. "With 20 episodes, there's no way you won't see Mr. Big. It would be impossible not to. Beyond that, I don't think you'll see any others. That's my feeling, anyway, though that is always fluid. It's ever-evolving."

Parker isn't looking forward to the "Sex and the City" staff disbanding at the end of the season, though she knows there's also an "up" side. "The only time I really think about it is when I'm asked about it," she reflects. "And my answer is pat but true: We still have a daunting amount of work ahead of us. This is our longest season ever, which involves an enormous amount of time, but we're also trying to produce 20 of our best episodes ever."

Three-time Golden Globe Award winner Sarah Jessica Parker starts her last run as columnist Carrie Bradshaw as the HBO comedy series "Sex and the City" begins its sixth and final season Sunday.

I'm also not thinking about the ending because it's too hard, too sad."

A winner of three Golden Globe Awards for "Sex and the City," Parker maintains that having a new son with her husband, Matthew Broderick, hasn't altered her approach to the show, which is well-known for its verbal and physical candor. She says, "Because he's such a young baby and not really cognizant of content or context, I'm not worrying yet about whether he sees this. The only way the baby has affected my work is in how I feel about the hours I put in, rather than being at home. He comes to the set with me every day, though, so I still get to spend a nice amount of time with him." The same goes for co-star Nixon, who also recently had a baby.

Little order in court with 'Practice' revamp

Q ■ What's happening with "The Practice"? Did ABC move it to Monday nights in an attempt to set it up for cancellation? -LaRonda Savage, Philadelphia.

A ■ No, ABC seriously hoped "The Practice" would thrive on Monday as part of a new dramatic lineup that also included "Veritas" and "Miracles," but both those newbies bombed, leaving "The Practice" to take a severe hit in the ratings.

ABC will restore the David E. Kelley series to its Sunday night berth when it returns next fall, but without half its familiar cast: Dylan McDermott (Bobby), whose departure was set up in the season finale; Kelli Williams (Bobby's TV wife, Lindsay); Lara Flynn Boyle (Helen); Marla Sokoloff (Lucy); Lisa Gay Hamilton (Rebecca); and Chylar Leigh (Claire), who joined the series just last season after her own Kelley drama, "girls club," bombed.

Kelley says "economic and creative realities" forced the shakeup, and ABC

was rumored to have insisted on a sharp reduction in the per-episode fee they pay as a condition for renewal. Familiar faces Camryn Manheim (Ellenor), Michael Badalucco (Jimmy), Steve Harris (Eugene) and Jessica Capshaw (Jamie) return; McDermott is expected to make occasional guest appearances, and Kelley said the door is open for occasional appearances by the other veteran cast members as well.

Q ■ After watching a PBS program about Nat "King" Cole, I'd like to know more about his TV show, as well as when he died. -Ralph Peterson, Auburn, Wash.

A ■ Originally only 15 minutes long, "The Nat 'King' Cole Show" premiered Monday, Nov. 5, 1956, on NBC, which absorbed the production costs out of its own pocket, since no sponsors would support this, the first network variety series headlined by a black performer.

In July 1957, the show expanded to half an hour and moved to Tuesdays, where it ran at a commercial loss until Dec. 17, 1957, despite the fact that major guest stars appeared for only a small fraction of their usual fee.

When the show ended, Cole remarked, "Madison Avenue is afraid of the dark." The singer, a three-packs-a-day smoker, died of lung cancer on Feb. 15, 1965, just 45 years old.

Ellen DeGeneres jokes 'Here and Now' in new HBO special

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Ellen DeGeneres has stored up a lot to talk about.

As a prelude to the syndicated talk show she'll host starting this fall, the comedian and actress returns to HBO with the stand-up special "Ellen DeGeneres: Here and Now" Saturday, June 28. The show is culled from two early-May performances at the Beacon Theatre in New York, the final stop on her latest tour of venues across the country.

DeGeneres takes the stage to a rousing, prolonged ovation, then immediately makes what she terms her "one obligatory 'gay' reference. Otherwise, some people will wonder, 'What happened to our leader?'" From there, her topics cover a broad range, from procrastination and old TV shows to product packaging and short attention spans. It's a no-frills hour, just Ellen and a microphone (and a bottle of water and a stool).

"There's no way to rehearse doing stand-up other than to be out there in front of an audience," DeGeneres reflects. "I spent about five to six months writing this material. The Jerry Seinfeld documentary 'Comedian' shows that he goes out and tries five minutes of new material at a time, and he builds his act from that - or at least that's how it looks. I just keep writing until I go on stage and see what I have. The first time I did this particular act, I had two hours of stuff, so I had to take a whole hour out for this special. That's a good problem to have."

It's also the reason DeGeneres specifically booked New York and the taping of her HBO show for the end of her two-month, 36-date tour. "I thought that probably would be enough for me to end up with a special I was really happy with, and it came together faster than I thought. I had worked so hard and prepared so much, I was pretty much ready after the first 10 shows. My goal then became to keep it fresh every single night, and to not get so bored that I started fixing things that didn't need to be fixed."

DeGeneres explains that the theme of "Here and Now" is "appreciating the moment and staying in it, instead of preparing for some other time to enjoy life. It's really about enjoying it now, but that can be hard to do, and it's what I've tried to do in performing this show. Every night when I go on stage, it's a live experience, and you never know what's going to happen when you're in a room with people who are sometimes over-excited to see you. That's great ... but at the same time, if you mix alcohol with that, a lot of different things can factor in."

The Beacon Theatre also was the New York site for DeGeneres' 2000 tour, which also yielded the HBO special "Ellen DeGeneres: The Beginning." She recalls, "I had stopped doing stand-up for eight years while I was doing a television series (ABC's Emmy-winning 'Ellen'). After the show was canceled, I tried to get back on my feet by doing that tour, then I went out on tour again last year. That show was bookended by new material, and the middle was what I called my 'greatest hits.' This year, with the talk show coming up, I wanted to keep myself from getting rusty by going out in front of audiences again. It's always a challenge to find new things to say, though."

One reason is DeGeneres' reluctance to use world events as a basis for humor. "I don't ever talk about politics or anything like that. For me, it's always about human behavior, which is basically the same all the time, no matter what year it is or what is going on in the world. I do talk about modern technology and how I feel it's hurting human interaction, but that's about it as far as specifics about today are concerned."

Since her talk show will require her to perform fresh comedy each week-day, DeGeneres - also heard as fish Dory in the Disney-Pixar animated movie "Finding Nemo" - is pleased by the response from "Here and Now" patrons. "It's nice to see that my audience is what it used to be," she says. "I've slowly built back to everything I started from, which is to make people laugh. For a while, I think people were a little skeptical and backed away from me, wondering where I was headed and what I was doing. It's nice to know that people are coming again just to see me be funny."

Indeed, "Ellen" morphed into more than a sitcom in 1997, when DeGeneres revealed her homosexuality as her TV character and in real life. Magazine covers trumpeted her "coming out," and in the short-lived "The Ellen Show" for CBS during the

Ellen DeGeneres returns to stand-up comedy before an audience at the Beacon Theatre in New York in "Ellen DeGeneres: Here and Now," a new HBO special airing Saturday.

2001-02 season, her on-screen alter ego also was gay.

Getting back to comedy basics has been the DeGeneres game plan in recent years; she hopes her talk show will advance that, though she realizes it won't be just about humor.

"It helps to have been a talk-show guest," she reasons, "because you know what makes you feel comfortable. It's easier for you to talk when you know someone is actually paying attention and listening to you, and unfortunately, that doesn't come naturally to a lot of comedians. They're always looking for the joke, instead of making the guest feel important. I've always been interested in talking to people and thinking on my feet, which has always been the most fun part of my act for me, so doing a talk show feels like a natural progression. It's much easier for me to be myself than to act."

Boost the spirits and learn to live with 'Dead Like Me'

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

Theoretically, a deceased individual could do numerous things after death - float on clouds, burn in eternal pits of flame, cease to exist, become one with the universe or reincarnate as a bug. Or, if one gets lonely, there's always a chat with John Edward.

On the other hand, what if death was a wake-up call? Better yet, what if it was the first day of a new job?

That's the situation facing apathetic, disaffected 18-year-old college dropout Georgia "George" Lass in the new Showtime comedy-drama "Dead Like Me," premiering Friday, June 27.

George's shuffle on this mortal coil comes to abrupt end when she is blasted into tiny pieces by a toilet seat plunging through the atmosphere from the disintegrating MIR space station. But, just before this, her soul is taken by a kindly man (Blu Mankuma, "Johnson County War") who, unbeknownst to George, is a grim reaper. Now, having fulfilled his soul quota, he passes the job to George.

"My original thought in creating this," writer and executive producer Bryan Fuller says, "was to do a very tongue-in-cheek show about grim reapers and what it was like to someone who was avoiding life to suddenly be put in the position where she's taking it."

On hand to help George through her transition into the world of the apparently alive but actually undead is her new boss, Rube (Mandy Patinkin, "Chicago Hope"). He receives a list of names, dates and places from the unnamed powers that be, then passes them on to his team - George (Ellen Muth, "Cora Unashamed"), Mason (Callum Blue, "As If"), Betty (Rebecca Gayheart, "Beverly Hills, 90210") and Roxy (Jasmine Guy, "A Different World") - who are in charge of taking the souls of the soon-to-be violently deceased. They don't interfere, but wait until just before the appointed time, "pop" the soul and witness the carnage.

Unfortunately for the reapers, being undead doesn't confer any special powers except rapid healing. The universe at large doesn't see fit to pay them for their work, and since they have physical bodies, they must find homes (often squatting in places vacated by the dead) and day jobs.

For George, accepting death and her new job are equally hard, surpassed only by the difficulty of leaving her family behind to be on her own in the world.

"She realizes a lot of things once she's undead," says Muth, calling in from the show's shooting location in Vancouver. "She realizes a lot of things she missed out on, a lot of things she would have done differently if she had been alive."

"She's learning that life can go by within a flash of an eye. She says at the end of the pilot, 'For me, death was a wake-up call.' That, in a nutshell, is what she learns. It opens her eyes to what she had given up."

"It was a beautiful little metaphor for post 9/11 anxieties," Patinkin says, "in terms of people who are worried about everything all the time. It was a black comedy that took a wonderful angle on how to enjoy every moment of your life, by taking this young girl and having her die prematurely, to say the least, in a very comedic fashion, and then, only in the world of TV, do you get a second chance to learn how to live."

"This show has nothing to do with death. It's all about how to live. It just teaches you how to do it after you die. It's very fun and funny and heartfelt and touching."

Rains make for challenges, misery at Wimbledon

By George Dickie
 © Zap2it

The rain in England falls mainly everywhere, and that seems especially so if you're a tennis fan and it's late June.

A constant companion to the electrifying tennis played on the grass courts of the All England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club in Wimbledon is the persistent mist that is part and parcel of life in London.

If you're a spectator, that means you'll probably endure varying degrees of discomfort and inconvenience to watch Venus and Serena Williams, Andre Agassi, Jennifer Capriati, Lleyton Hewitt and the rest of the sport's creme de la creme vie to reach center court and the final. If you're a player, be prepared for a messed up schedule and substandard conditions.

"One of the things you just have to do at Wimbledon is be able to adapt," says former tennis pro Mary Carillo, who will provide analysis when ESPN and NBC cover the year's third Grand Slam tournament Monday through Sunday, June 23-July 6. "I mean, you have to go in with the mentality, the mind-set that things are going to happen. You could go three days without playing a match and then have to play three matches in three-straight days. I mean, that just happens over there."

The rain also can play havoc with the grass surface, which can turn lightning-fast conditions into a slow slog. "When the conditions become heavier," Carillo says, "the ball becomes heavier, the court becomes dampened, and everything slows down. The grass gets juicier, which means footwork becomes an issue. It definitely tricks up the course."

"I mean, people who have got big games like Pete Sampras, when he used to play, he liked nice, hot conditions, dry conditions where the court got baked, which meant that the balls didn't fluff up and get damp, and the court played almost like a hard court - only, obviously, heavy conditions make it a little more difficult for attacking players."

So it would seem that the serve-and-volley players, the ones who prefer slower play and more strategy, would have more of an advantage in the wet conditions. "Yeah, but there's not that many serve-and-volleyers," Carillo says. "But what it also does is a lot of rain can really hurt the court, damage it, because when the sun comes out, then you're going to have all kinds of crazy brown spots and all that."

"That's why it really pays to be a great athlete," Carillo says, "because you're dealing with the elements and conditions more on a grass court than anywhere else. You cannot expect true bounces; you cannot expect perfect conditions. And I like that."

"A lot of people would rather sort of homogenize all the surfaces, and there are people who are still decrying the grass courts, saying they should get rid of it. ... I totally disagree. To me, it shows how complete a player is when they can deal with a different surface, different-weight balls, the wind, the sun, the rain."

However, Carillo does not consider tennis on grass to be the greatest expression of the sport, even under pristine conditions. "Things happen in a hurry on grass," she says. "A lot of people watch grass-court tennis, in particular men's grass-court tennis, and think, 'God, this is just a bunch of one-trick ponies out here, just hitting hard serves and no real baseline conversations and not a lot of rallies and not a lot of serving and volleying.' It's just a lot of power and not as much strategy and a certain lack of finesse. But that said, there are so few serve-and-volleyers in men's and women's tennis that you can be a baseliner and win. That's all there is to it."

So who does Carillo like this year at Wimbledon? "You can't ignore the bald guy," she says of Andre Agassi, who won here in 1992. "You gotta like him. Because Wimbledon was so dominated by Pete for so long, there are not too many guys who have won Wimbledon. Agassi's among them."

And on the women's side? "Serena Williams is ... pretty snappy on that stuff," Carillo says of the defending champ. "I mean, she's pretty good on everything. She won the French last year on what was supposed to be her worst surface (clay), and she actually didn't play well. Except for the final, she didn't play well right through the Australian Open, and she still figured out a way to win. But that's the thing about Serena these days - and Venus ... they can play badly but they can still compete so well that they get on through."

"NASCAR Winston Cup Dodge-Save Mart 350" Sunday, June 22 (Fox, 3:30 p.m. ET): Ricky Rudd is in a serious rut. After the first third of NASCAR's season, Rudd found himself in an unfamiliar 26th place in the standings, which most observers - including Rudd - partially attribute to his adjustment to a new team. Despite some good rides, he's yet to win this season. Maybe Infineon Raceway in Sonoma, Calif., will be his site for sore eyes, since he enters today's race there as the defending champ.

"New York Yankees at New York Mets" Sunday, June 22 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): It can be argued that inter-league baseball is exciting for two reasons: Giants-Dodgers and the matchup featured tonight between the Yankees and Mets. It's the third of what are now six annual games between the city rivals, and though the Mets are in the midst of another disappointing season, Shea Stadium will be packed with each team's fans.

"U.S. Senior Open, First Round" Thursday, June 26 (ESPN, 2 p.m. ET): The famed Inverness Club in Toledo, Ohio, the site of four U.S. Opens, welcomes the senior pros for the first time with today's opening round of the U.S. Senior Open. Ten past champions of this USGA championship are scheduled to compete, including Jack Nicklaus, Gary Player and Hale Irwin, who won the 1979 U.S. Open here.

Movie: State Fair

A little more country than today's state fairs, this 1962 musical begins with hog and cooking contests. The Frake family patriarch (Tom Ewell) leads the pack with his prize pig entry; Mom (Alice Faye) manages her mincemeat pie; eldest son, Wayne (Pat Boone), heads for the race track; and daughter Margie (Pamela Tiffin) is looking for love in all the state fair places. Bobby Darin and Ann-Margret co-star.

Movie: The Bad News Bears

Although it may seem like a never-ending advertisement for beer, this 1976 movie's focus is baseball — pint-sized baseball. Walter Matthau stars as Coach Buttermaker, a slovenly has-been who forms a Little League team. The group is lousy, and it seems the only saviors are a whiz of a pitcher (Tatum O'Neal) and a motorcycle punk (Jackie Earle Haley). Could the coach's life get any better?

Saturday

Movie: Three Wishes

Patrick Swayze takes a break from tough-guy roles to play Jack McCloud, an injured and apparently homeless man who is taken in by a compassionate woman (Mary Elizabeth Mastrantonio). While he's recuperating, he slowly but surely bonds with her sons — especially Tom (Joseph Mazzello), who misses his MIA father. Seth Murny and David Marshall Grant co-star in this 1995 drama directed by Martha Coolidge ("Lost in Yonkers").

TV Trivia

Ron Livingston ("Sex and the City") graduated from Marion High School in Iowa, then attended Yale University with Edward Norton.

Brian A. Green ("This Time Around") accompanied his father, country and western artist George Green, on gigs with his band.

Debbie Allen ("Fame") holds an honorary degree from North Carolina School of the Arts, which had rejected her for not having a dancer's body.

John Schneider ("Cincinnati Pops: Patriotic Broadway") founded the Children's Miracle Network with singer Marie Osmond.

As a child, Kelli Williams ("The Practice") had a pet goat, Kiddo, who successfully defended her against attacking dogs.

This 1996 version of the animated Disney classic features lots of cute puppies, with Jeff Daniels and Joely Richardson playing their owners. The clear show-stealer, though, is Glenn Close; she's absolutely ideal as Cruella De Vil, who has sinister reasons for wanting to get her hands on the dalmatians.

Movie: Guilty Hearts
The biblical admonition "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone at her" takes on new meaning in this two-part 2002 drama. A man suspected of murder seeks to deflect blame from himself to his lady love after she blows the whistle on another sin: their affair. Since they're both churchgoers, he has a ready-made community of good people susceptible to shock at whatever his accusations are. Part 2 airs Wednesday.

8 p.m. on HBO
Sex and the City

Carrie (Sarah Jessica Parker) and company start their sixth and final season of the Emmy-winning comedy series. "To Market, to Market" finds Carrie pondering whether a new beau (Ron Livingston) is worth her emotional investment. Samantha (Kim Cattrall) has neighborhood concerns; Charlotte (Kristin Davis) is marriage-minded again; and Miranda (Cynthia Nixon) reconsiders the nature of her relationship with Steve (David Eigenberg).

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC
The Practice

Recent headlines inspire the episode "The Telltale Nation," as the firm represents a man who alleges that he was molested in his youth by a beloved priest (Robert Prosky, "Hill Street Blues"). Lindsay and Jamie (Kelli Williams, Jessica Capshaw) find themselves on opposite sides of the same case, with each representing one half of a couple suing each other.

All My Children

Edmund and Maria were married in a midnight ceremony at the Wildwind chapel. Learning of the nuptials, Aidan was overwhelmed with emotional pain and destroyed the room he and Maria shared at the Pine Cone. When Alma demanded that Henry choose between Maggie and his family, Henry moved out of Alma's house, although Maggie still wasn't ready to take him back. Carlos and Greenlee shared a passionate kiss. Later, Greenlee found out that Carlos has a history with storeowner Diane Lacey, but Carlos refused to answer her questions about Diane. Coming: Kendall enlists allies to destroy Michael.

As the World Turns

After Jack delivered Carly's baby, the doctor collected samples for a paternity test. Learning they are officially divorced, Jack proposed to Carly, who accepted. A smoke bomb went off as Dusty met with Spangler, who was stabbed to death in the confusion. Dusty was arrested for Spangler's murder but insisted they must reach McCann to find Lily and Rose. Holden got a call saying that McCann was with Barbara, and they found him dead in Barbara's suite. Coming: Chris doesn't heed words of caution.

Bold and Beautiful

Macy presented Thorne with annulment papers, which he signed, not wanting to hurt Macy more. When Brooke turned down Ridge's appeal for a second chance, he vowed to win her back. Meanwhile, Nick continued to make an impression on Brooke. With Macy's encouragement, Deacon decided to fight to see his children, despite Jonathan's warning that Deacon will come up against the considerable power of the Forresters. Coming: Rick steps up the battle against Deacon.

Days of Our Lives

Sami came out of her coma but had to be sedated when she realized she couldn't talk. Rex and Mimi made love. After being rejected by Shawn, Cassie tried to pick up a guy and was arrested for solicitation. Rex told Cassie that Roman is their biological father and was furious with him for keeping Cassie in jail. Philip took Belle to Victor's party, which he attended to spy on Maya. When Maya proposed that she and Philip team up so that he would get Belle and she would get Shawn, Philip realized that he might have to use his best friend. Coming: Rex seeks to get back at Roman.

General Hospital

Although traumatized by what he had witnessed, Michael told Courtney that Ric kidnapped Carly. As Sonny found Alcazar and Ric together, Carly was knocked unconscious after falling when she smashed the monitor in the panic room. Luke learned the location of Laura's hospital but was arrested by Scott. Zander was stunned when Emily lied to him that she and Nikolas are engaged. Coming: Lucky hurls an accusation against Luke.

Guiding Light

While Reva believed that Shayne would be the one to decide between pursuing a sports career or college, Josh secretly mailed the contract to the baseball agent. Harley was caught by surprise when Gus proposed to her.

Soap Synopsis

Lizzie's attempt to foil Phillip and Olivia's getaway failed. At the Bauer cabin, Alexandra agreed to Phillip's demand to remove herself from the company in order for him to become her successor. Darcy told Eden that she really likes Frank and is no longer seeing him as a favor. Coming: Josh's actions lead to an angry confrontation.

One Life to Live

Thrilled to see Keri, Antonio became angry as she explained her ruse, then was shocked to learn that he is Jamie's father. Antonio couldn't believe his ears when Keri said she wants to get back together with him. Jen told Joey about Flash's real identity. Confronted by him, Flash said she lied to prevent Viki from contacting her real mother, Tina, whom she never wants to see again. Mitch took Jessica to Victor Lord's former estate, and later demanded that Viki come with him if she ever wants to see Jessica alive again. Coming: Jessica is ready to make the ultimate sacrifice.

Passions

Luis insisted that Sheridan is in danger and prepared to have the police make a house-to-house search, while Charlie decided to kill Sheridan before she could be found. Eve got Gwen stabilized but warned that she needs to remain calm and relaxed. Grace caught Sam in a compromising position with Ivy, as they lashed out against each other over what they thought they had seen. Liz wanted to buy the Blue Note from Fox and accused him of being in love with Whitney. Coming: Gwen accuses Theresa of wanting Ethan.

her. Ian then offered to turn Lucy into a vampire to prevent her from dying, but she couldn't do it. Joshua programmed Alison and sent her back to Rafe. When her watch alarm went off, Alison asked Rafe to make love. Karen helped Kevin go through withdrawal from Joshua's drugs, and Elizabeth watched as they shared a kiss. Casey was angry when Ricky admitted he made a deal with Joshua to get her sent back to heaven. Coming: A programmed Alison attacks Rafe.

Young and Restless

Billy and Mac were married and prepared for their wedding night, but were shocked to find Jill at their hotel room door. After Chris warned Isabella not to contest the divorce, a panicked Isabella convinced Michael to get restraining orders against Paul, Chris and Mary. A drunken Mary then took off to find Isabella. When Michael came to Isabella's house, he saw a pool of blood on the floor. Coming: Jill has shocking news for Billy and Mac.

Josh Duhamel stays in prime-time series

By Candace Havens
© Zap2it

The rumors of Josh Duhamel returning to "All My Children" are not true. The actor, who played Leo du Pres on the daytime drama, recently found out his prime-time show "Las Vegas" was picked up by NBC for the fall 2003 season.

On the series, Duhamel plays Danny McCoy, a security agent at a large Vegas hotel. When he sleeps with the boss's daughter, he finds himself in a big mess.

Duhamel stars in the series with James Caan, Cheryl Ladd, Nikki Cox and Vanessa Marcil (ex-Brenda Barrett, "General Hospital").

Dear Candace: Could you please tell me what happened to the woman who played Carmen on "Guiding Light"? -Sharissa via the Internet.

Dear Reader: There's been a lot of mail about former "Guiding Light" star Sandra Santiago (ex-Carmen Santos).

These days, the actress is playing the role of Stephanie Necrophorus in the revival of "Nine: The Musical," which also stars Antonio Banderas, Jane Krakowski, Chita Rivera and Mary Stuart Masterson. Stephanie is much like Carmen in that she gives Banderas' character a rough time. The show runs through August 10.

No word on if Carmen eventually will come out of her coma on "GL," but it would be cool if she woke up singing.

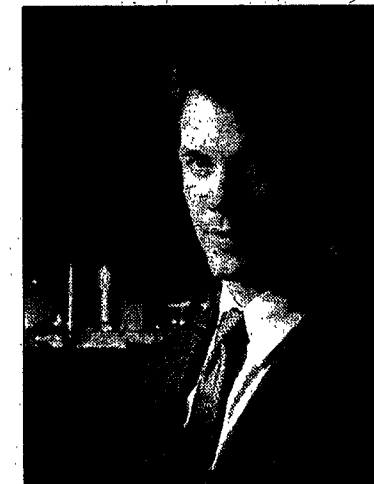

Dear Candace: I noticed that the old Hal is back on "As the World Turns." I'm glad. The other guy who played the character was OK, but I like the old one better. Can you tell me why he was away? -Regina K. in New York.

Dear Reader: Benjamin Hendrickson, who plays the character, left to care for his ailing mother. When she died, he needed time to grieve and put her affairs in order.

Randolph Mantooth took over the role of Hal Munson during Hendrickson's absence.

It's been a difficult year for Hendrickson, but he was honored with his first daytime Emmy in May. During his speech, he thanked his mother, who had scrimped and saved to send him to the Juilliard School.

Tennis
 It's time for strawberries and cream again, as ESPN begins two weeks worth of Wimbledon coverage from the All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club. Lleyton Hewitt and Serena Williams enjoyed the fruits of their labor here last year, each winning their second Grand Slam title. Serena defeated her sister, Venus, and her world No. 1 ranking ensures her top-seed status. Hewitt, meanwhile, has struggled this year, possibly opening the door for a new champ.

 What's scarier — walking a beam 100 feet in the air or eating 100-year-old eggs? Those are the stunts confronting the six contestants in this installment of the reality series. Your answer may change if you know that the beam walk must be done on stilts and that the old eggs contain old embryos. Did we mention they're being served with liquefied liver and dead worms?

8 Simple Rules for Dating My Teen-age Daughter

Bridget's (Kaley Cuoco) relationship to retail is jeopardized in "Wall of Shame." She's accused of shoplifting, cutting into Paul's (John Ritter) plans to catch a big football game. Convinced of his daughter's innocence, he goes about gathering evidence to clear her name — only to end up being suspected of crossing the line of the law himself. Another episode immediately follows.

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

That '70s Show

Red (Kurtwood Smith) doesn't react well to the news of Eric and Donna's (Tophier Grace, Laura Prepon) engagement in "Whole Lotta Love." Kelso (Ashton Kutcher) irritates Hyde (Danny Masterson) by trying to reclaim Jackie's (Mila Kunis) love, and Fez (Wilmer Valderrama) takes a big step by spending the night with Nina (Joanna Canton).

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

Michael (Damon Wayans) tries to be a good dad and share some of his wisdom about women with Junior (George Gore II) in "Jr.'s Dating Dilemma." Unfortunately, his advice works a little too well, and Junior ends up with two dates for the same night. Michael has a hot date, too, but that's all in Jay's head; she dreams Michael is hooked up with singer Janet Jackson. Tisha Campbell-Martin also stars.

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

Cincinnati Pops: Patriotic Broadway

Known for leading the National Symphony Orchestra in PBS-televised holiday concerts, Erich Kunzel is the full-time conductor of the Cincinnati Pops Orchestra. In this new special, taped in February at the Music Hall in Cincinnati, he leads the musicians and guest artists in a program of all-American tunes. Former "Dukes of Hazzard" stars John Schneider and Tom Wopat reunite; soprano Denyce Graves also performs.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

The Drew Carey Show

The title "Turkeyspotting" suggests a rerun of a Thanksgiving tale, but this actually is a new episode; in fact, it's the show's 200th. Drew (Drew Carey) goes on a crash diet, which has more of an effect on his head than his waistline, as he sees-ing some weird things. Ian Gomez and Denise Faye guest star.

8 p.m. on 38-WB

The Jamie Kennedy Experiment

Who's a bigger cell-phone offender: the one who carries on an obnoxiously loud conversation in public or the one who won't answer his phone at all — letting it ring and ring? In this first of two back-to-back episodes, Jamie gets a lot of dirty looks in a restaurant when he can't stop his phone from ringing. In the second episode, he plays a ventriloquist who insists on saying everything through his dummy — even to his date.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

In "True Crime," the bizarre death of a rock singer whose body is found in a garbage can — with heroin and cocaine in her system — leads Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) to her ex-boyfriend.

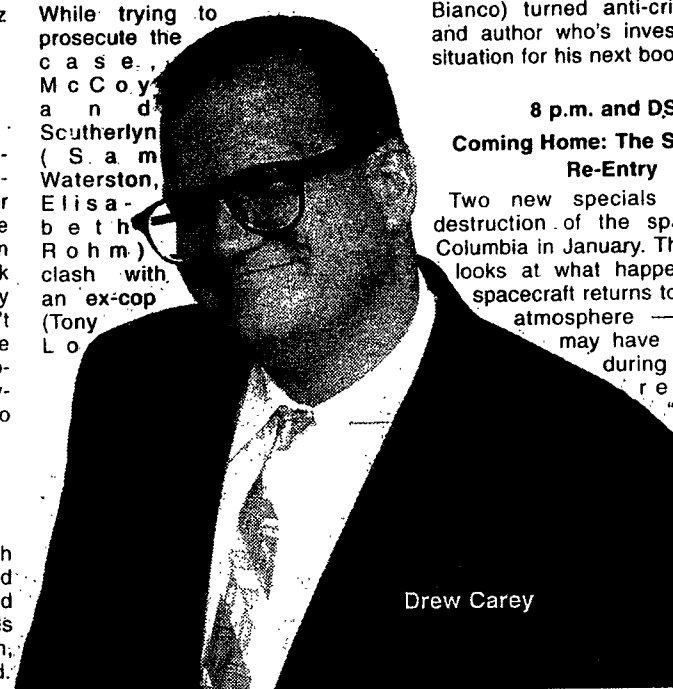

While trying to prosecute the case, McCoy and Scutherlyn (S. A. M. Waterston, Elisabeth Rohm) clash with an ex-cop (Tony L...

Bianco) turned anti-crime activist and author who's investigating the situation for his next book.

8 p.m. and DSC

Coming Home: The Science of Re-Entry

Two new specials revisit the destruction of the space shuttle Columbia in January. This first hour looks at what happens when a spacecraft returns to the Earth's atmosphere — and what may have gone wrong during Columbia's re-entry. "Columbia's Final Mission: 16 Days" focuses on the daily lives and work of the astronauts during the mission.

7 p.m. on 13-ABC

Movie: One Fine Day

A missed field trip saddles two single parents (Michelle Pfeiffer, George Clooney) with child-care duties on a day when both are facing career crises. They help each other through the crazy day, and by the time it's over, sparks are flying — the good kind. Alex D. Linz, Anna Maria Horsford and Robert Klein also star in this 1996 romantic comedy, whose theme song earned an Oscar nomination.

7 p.m. and AMC

Movie: The Eiger Sanction

Clint Eastwood quits the mean streets and hits the hills in this 1975 spy thriller also directed by Eastwood. With the upbeat name of Jonathan Hemlock, an art teacher agrees to take an assassination case. The target is a Russian killer who takes on the task of climbing a mountain. Will the man with the fortuitous name be the one to take a long walk off a short pier or will it be his mark?

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: Will & Grace

Demi Moore guest stars as Jack's (Sean Hayes) baby sitter from childhood in "Women and Children First." He still acts just as he did as a boy when he's around her. Grace (Debra Messing) spends a night on the town with Karen (Megan Mullally) and several other women, including a new neighbor (guest star Rosanna Arquette).

8 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Frailty

Bill Paxton ("Twister") made his feature-directing debut with this 2001 melodrama, in which he also appears in flashback sequences. He plays a father of two sons (Matthew McConaughey, Levi Kreis), and one son believes the other is a serial killer. The supposed murderer could be emulating Dad's pattern of slaying people who allegedly are controlled by demons.

Friday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX

The 2003 Essence Awards

Steve Harvey will have a new series this fall, but he's also found a regular gig with this event. For the third consecutive year, the comedian serves as host of the ceremony celebrating notable contributions by blacks to entertainment and activism. Taped June 6 at the Kodak Theatre in Hollywood, the show honors Mary J. Blige, Mos Def and radio personality Tom Joyner. Beyonce Knowles, Lionel Richie and Jill Scott perform.

7:30 p.m. on 38-WB

What I Like About You

Holly (Amanda Bynes) has been living with Val (Jennie Garth) for a while, but only now does it create problems with neighbors in the building in "Tyler v. World." Another resident (guest star Meredith Autry) stirs things up when she learns Holly never was added to the lease for Val's apartment, and the siblings face possible eviction as a result.

8 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Les Miserables

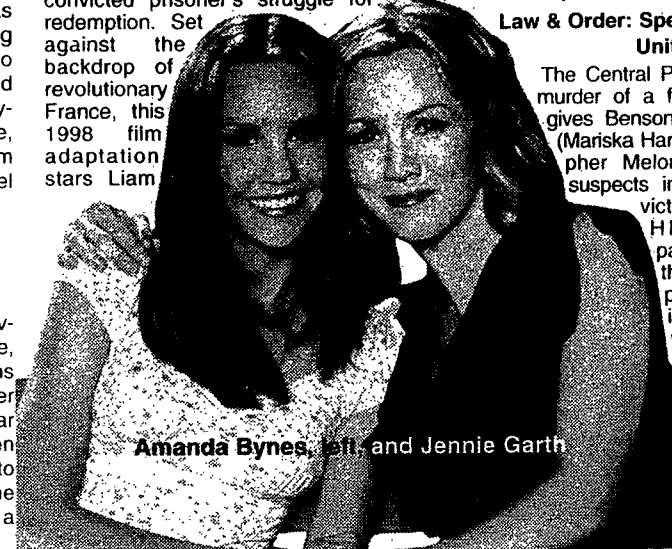

Victor Hugo's classic masterpiece, "Les Miserables," tells the heartbreaking and uplifting story of a wrongly convicted prisoner's struggle for redemption. Set against the backdrop of revolutionary France, this 1998 film adaptation stars Liam Neeson as Jean Valjean and Geoffrey Rush as former prison guard Javert, who has dedicated his life to revealing the ex-convict's supposed sin.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

The Central Park rape and murder of a female doctor gives Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) plenty of suspects in "Lust." The victim helped HIV-positive patients contact their sexual partners, earning her the wrath of many individuals. A second, similar slaying narrows the police detectives' list of people to investigate.

Saturday Best Bets

7 p.m. on 26-ABC

Movie: The 6th Day

The high-tech world again finds a foe in Arnold Schwarzenegger in this futuristic 2000 adventure. The star plays a man who encounters a clone of himself, setting him on a course to uncover a sinister plot that ultimately leads him to look-alikes for people who hold high office. The cast also includes Robert Duvall, Michael Rapaport and Sarah Wynter ("24").

7 p.m. on 4-CBS

The Price Is Right Million Dollar Spectacular

It worked during the February "sweeps," so the long-running game show again went prime time for the May ratings period with the first of several weekly specials offering contestants bigger cash prizes. Venerable host Bob Barker still presides over familiar games that have higher stakes. Other fixtures of the daytime version who turn up here are announcer Rod Roddy and the models known as "Barker's Beauties."

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Movie: 1st to Die

The best seller by James Patterson ("Kiss the Girls") became a 2003 TV movie starring Tracy Pollan as a police detective probing the murder of a young couple on their wedding night. Teamed with a cop (Gil Bellows) with whom she had a one-night stand, she seeks help from other professional women (Pam Grier, Carly Pope, Megan Gallagher) in finding the killer. Robert Patrick ("The X-Files") also stars.

7 p.m. on ESPN

IRL Racing

Virginia's Richmond International Raceway is known for its NASCAR events, but whenever the track's short 3/4-mile oval is put to the test by Indy cars, a new level of racing excitement is reached. Tonight's Indy Challenge, the second of three night races on IRL's schedule, should produce speeds close to 50 mph more than the stock cars can muster. In fact, Scott Dixon turned the fastest lap at just over 166 mph in a late-May test session.

7 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Panic Room

Not for the claustrophobic, this 2002 thriller from director David Fincher ("Seven") stars Jodie Foster in a role originally intended for Nicole Kidman. She plays a woman whose new home is invaded by thieves (Forest Whitaker, Jared Leto and Dwight Yoakam) seeking the previous owner's money. The woman and her daughter (Kristen Stewart) hole up in the house's well-protected "panic room" and fight the intruders from within.

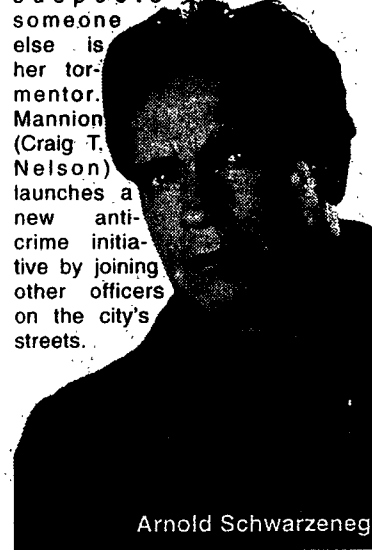

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

The District

Country music star Lee Ann Womack appropriately is cast as a singer in "Back in the Saddle." The target of death threats possibly made by an obsessed fan, the entertainer gets DeBreno (Jonathan La Paglia) as a bodyguard. Brander (Wayne Duvall) suspects someone else is her tormentor.

Mannion (Craig T. Nelson) launches a new anti-crime initiative by joining other officers on the city's streets.

Arnold Schwarzenegger

9 p.m. on 26-ABC

Dragnet

The murder of a minor-league actress gives Friday and Smith (Ed O'Neill, Ethan Embry) plenty of suspects in the episode "Well Endowed." A tabloid reporter (guest star Sandra Bernhard) is among those with potentially useful information as the members of an esteemed family fall under suspicion. Christina Pickles ("St. Elsewhere," "Friends") also guest stars.

9 p.m. on HBO

Ellen DeGeneres: Here and Now

She can be heard in the current Disney movie "Finding Nemo" and she'll host a syndicated talk show come fall, but in this new special, DeGeneres simply engages in her singular brand of stand-up funny business. Taped in May at the Beacon Theater in New York, the performance finds DeGeneres ruminating on various aspects of modern life — all of them filtered through her common-sense perspective.

(Ratings for each film begin with a "star" rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent" - followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases):

"THE HOURS": Since Virginia Woolf's writing inspired this fine drama, it's only fitting that of the three female stars, Nicole Kidman walked away with an Oscar for playing Woolf. The author battles mental illness while writing "Mrs. Dalloway," her book that later has major effects on a suicidal 1950s housewife (Julianne Moore, also Oscar-nominated); and on a modern woman (Meryl Streep) caring for an AIDS-afflicted friend (Ed Harris). DVD extras: audio commentaries by Kidman, Moore and Streep, and by director Stephen Daldry and novelist Michael Cunningham; "making-of" documentaries; filmmakers' introduction.  (PG-13: AS, P)

"KANGAROO JACK": Two Brooklyn pals (Jerry O'Connell, Anthony Anderson) go all the way to Australia to fulfill an assignment for mobsters in this mildly amusing comedy from producer Jerry Bruckheimer. The guys unwittingly lose a jacket containing mob money when a kangaroo hops away with it, sending them on a wild chase through the Outback. Christopher Walken, Estella Warren ("Planet of the Apes") and Dyan Cannon co-star. DVD extras: audio commentaries by "Kangaroo Jack," O'Connell, Anderson, Warren, director David McNally, writers Steve Bing and Scott Rosenberg, and visual-effects supervisor Hoyt Yeatman; "making-of"

Video Vantage

documentaries; outtakes; animal casting sessions.  (PG: AS, P, V)

"PUNCH-DRUNK LOVE": Adam Sandler puts darker spins on his typically goofy persona in this comedy-drama from writer-director Paul Thomas Anderson ("Boogie Nights," "Magnolia"). Sandler stars as a modest businessman constantly harangued by his seven sisters, causing him to struggle with his repressed emotions. He finds the potential for romance with an intriguing woman (Emily Watson), if only they can keep from sabotaging themselves. DVD extras: theatrical trailer.  (R: AS, P)

"DARK BLUE": He's not exactly Snake Plissken ("Escape From New York") again, but Kurt Russell still plays it mean in director Ron Shelton's tense L.A. police drama that unfolds at the time of the 1991 Rodney King trial. Russell stars as an elite police detective who plays mentor to a rookie (Scott Speedman, "Felicity") while probing four murders - and bending every rule he possibly can. Ving Rhames also stars as a superior officer who has the corrupt cop's number. DVD extras: audio commentary by Shelton; photo gallery.  (R: AS, P, V)

"AIR BUD SPIKES BACK": Made for the home-video market, the latest of the comedies about an unusually athletic dog introduces him to volleyball. He and his young owner, Andrea (Katija Pevec), take up the sport just as canine Buddy comes under suspicion of committing a series of neighborhood thefts. He sets out to find the real culprit while Andrea tries to ingratiate herself to her new teammates. Cynthia Stevenson reprises her role from the earlier tales. DVD extras: "making-of" documentary; interactive game.  (G)

"LIVE FROM BAGHDAD": Months before the Persian Gulf War began, CNN producers arrived to prep coverage of an anticipated Iraqi withdrawal from Kuwait. Instead, they were in the midst of the battle when it erupted in 1991. This authentic-feeling made-for-HBO docudrama is based on the same-named book by former CNN producer Robert Wiener, who is played by Michael Keaton. Helena Bonham Carter and Lili Taylor ("Six Feet Under") co-star. DVD extra: audio commentary by director Mick Jackson.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases):

"GANGS OF NEW YORK" (July 1): Director Martin Scorsese's drama of rival 19th-century street gangs stars Leonardo DiCaprio, Daniel Day-Lewis and Cameron Diaz. (R: AS, N, P, V)

"HOW TO LOSE A GUY IN 10 DAYS" (July 1): Kate Hudson plays a woman whose research for a story involves luring and getting dumped by a man (Matthew McConaughey). (PG-13: AS)

"BASIC" (July 8): An investigator (John Travolta) tries to determine what has become of a much-hated Army drill sergeant (Samuel L. Jackson) who is missing. (R: P, V)

"PHONE BOOTH" (July 8): A publicist (Colin Farrell) is trapped in a Manhattan telephone booth by an anonymous sniper who threatens to shoot him if he tries to leave. (R: AS, P, V)

"CONFESSIONS OF A DANGEROUS MIND" (July 15): George Clooney's directorial debut stars Sam Rockwell as game-show mogul - and alleged CIA spy - Chuck Barris. (R)

"SHANGHAI KNIGHTS" (July 15): Jackie Chan and Owen Wilson reunite in this sequel to the action-comedy "Shanghai Noon," taking them to London in pursuit of a killer. (PG-13: AS, V)

MTV's 'Who's Got Game?' dunks Magic into reality show

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

All you need to play street basketball is heart. Sure, height helps, and those with an apparent ability to suspend themselves in air have an advantage. But at the very core of street ball is a pure desire to dribble a hard orange ball against asphalt and feel that adrenaline rush as it sinks through the basket.

Unlike many other sports, money is not essential. All players need do is find a court and join a pick-up game. No one understands this more than Magic Johnson, who, like many other greats, started this way.

Perfectly capturing the zeitgeist, MTV blends sports and hip hop in "Who's Got Game?" a 10-week series premiering Sunday, June 22. Magic is an executive producer and mentor to the 12 players.

Thousands of basketball players auditioned in six cities around the country to be on the show. The chosen were flown to Manhattan and installed in a youth hostel. Over six weeks, they played a series of games - often with the sort of convoluted rules found in Mississippi River poker games.

"When they start explaining the rules, it gets to be crazy," Magic says. "Every day, there are some winners and some losers. And, at the end of the day, the losers get penalized for losing on that day. But on the next episode, they get a chance to come back. And, at the end, they will have a chance of winning $100,000."

In addition, the winner's hometown court is refurbished and named after him or her. And all the players get the experience of working with Magic and street-ball legend Pee Wee Kirkland.

"One thing about street ball is that everybody can play, whether you are 4-foot-1 or 7-foot-1," Magic says from his Los Angeles home. "Everyone doesn't have to run fast or jump high. Everyone can play this game. We have all started there. If you are going to make it in basketball, you have to get out on the street court. It makes you tougher, not just in basketball, but in life as well. Life can be tough sometimes. Street ball made me work through all my tough situations in life."

And as the players' lives are revealed, it is clear they know about tough times.

Keith "Streets" Godette, 22, of Brooklyn, N.Y., talks about getting shot in the leg, and how he felt as if he had jumped into a pool with his clothes on; it was a pool of his blood.

Wendell Greenleaf, 21, of Houston, arrives in New York just as his girlfriend goes into labor, so he heads home for the birth of his son. He is not playing at his best when he returns, but he does get back in the game.

The raw footage available at press time, intended only to give an idea of what the show would be culled from, makes it difficult to say how exciting it will be once it is edited. Much time is devoted to the typical reality show fare of strangers living together.

The most interesting part of "Who's Got Game?" happens on the court. This is not the basketball learned in high-school gym, but a game that celebrates hot-dogs. Some guys swing from the rim as if it were gymnastics rings. Others use more elbows than the NBA allows, but this is no NBA game.

"Street ball is about talking trash and personality," Magic says.

That is plenty evident with Randy "White Chocolate" Gill, 25, from Laurel, Md., who describes himself as a "black man in a white man's body" and speaks in exaggerated ghetto slang. "White Chocolate" plays on a profes-

MTV's 'Who's Got Game?' dunks Magic into reality show

All you need to play street basketball is heart. Sure, height helps, and those with an apparent ability to suspend themselves in air have an advantage. But at the very core of street ball is a pure desire to dribble a hard orange ball against asphalt and feel that adrenaline rush as it sinks through the basket.

Unlike many other sports, money is not essential. All players need do is find a court and join a pick-up game. No one understands this more than Magic Johnson, who, like many other greats, started this way.

Perfectly capturing the zeitgeist, MTV blends sports and hip hop in "Who's Got Game?" a 10-week series premiering Sunday, June 22. Magic is an executive producer and mentor to the 12 players.

Thousands of basketball players auditioned in six cities around the country to be on the show. The chosen were flown to Manhattan and installed in a youth hostel. Over six weeks, they played a series of games - often with the sort of convoluted rules found in Mississippi River poker games.

"When they start explaining the rules, it gets to be crazy," Magic says. "Every day, there are some winners and some losers. That is plenty evident with Randy "White Chocolate" Gill, 25, from Laurel, Md., who describes himself as a "black man in a white man's body" and speaks in exaggerated ghetto slang. "White Chocolate" plays on a professional street-ball team that tours the world. He has been teaching his son, 2, to shoot since he was 9 months old.

"I just love basketball so much I really felt it was my chance to be successful," he says of the show.

Then there's Nick Wells, 24, from Norman, Okla., who sounds like a cowboy. Wells consistently dunks from the free-throw line, and admits he wants to turn pro. "I would rather play basketball than anything," he says from his job at a car audio shop. "But you have to have a contingency plan." That is why he is close to earning his MBA.

Wells also played soccer, baseball, football and ran track. Like the other players on the show, he's a huge Magic fan. "He is one of the greatest players to ever play the game," Wells says. "It was awesome to meet him."

Being on this show "kind of cemented in my mind that I can pretty much do anything I want," he says.

Wells also made friends. He and participant Sherise Smith, 25, from Los Angeles, have been instant messaging since the taping ended in April. Smith, who wants to be a sports lawyer or go into sports marketing, had not planned to try out for the show.

Magic Johnson mentors players on MTV's "Who's Got Game?" premiering Sunday. Also an executive producer, he says viewers "better follow this one because it is something else."
